Wausau High's Got It

From the chill of those early fall days of color, to the excitement of the state championship basketball game, to the climax of graduation night, realities quickly became memories. In September Wausau Senior High students entered our three-building complex to find the largest enrollment ever programmed in capacity-filled classrooms. October brought Wausau Week and its added spirit that led the Lumberjacks to a football conference championship. The senior class presented "Dark of the Moon" on two November nights. During the December holidays the Juniors sponsored their annual dance. This year's theme was "Some Enchanted Evening." The new year saw the Tophatters perform on a freezing January night. The curlers returned home with a first place trophy while the debaters took second in the state tournaments. February meant the start of the second semester while March found students flocking to Madison to cheer for the Jacks against Milwaukee Lincoln in the state finals. In April we danced on the "Carrousel" at the Junior Prom, and by May we had made final decisions about schooling and careers. Finally the class of 1967 reached commencement in June. With this concluding event the school year ended, a year that made each student aware that WAUSAU HIGH'S GOT IT!

This newer unit of Wausau High with its picturesque landscaping is quite a contrast to the old building which is connected to it.

Despite Three Sizeable Buildings Our

From the basement to the third floor the old building is used mainly for the administrative offices and the social science department.

With 2,225 students entering the doors of Wausau High in September, it was apparent that the space problem was a growing concern. Not only did some students find themselves being scheduled for a class in the church across the street, but also many had classes in the basement of the old building. For the taller student this was an uncomfortable situation as low ceilings, hazardous heating ducts, and low-hanging water pipes, made standing up straight an impossibility.

Incoming sophomores had to adjust to the idea that only half the school was on their noon hour, with the other half at another time. Viewing the long lines waiting to be served by the cafeteria staff, it was hard to believe that at one time Wausau High had only one noon hour. Juniors and seniors, accustomed to this routine, did find that last year's audio-visual room was converted to an industrial arts class. Movies were shown in the mezzanine of the auditorium. The model home used by the home economics department and the old kindergarten room also had been made into classrooms.

Though Wausau High consisted of three units—the old building, the main unit, and the new cafeteria and gym area—the administration realized that these facilities were not adequate. Such suggestions as building a new high school, adding to the present one, going on a split shift, and the possibility of using the two year plan, were all studied. Whatever the answer, the 1966-67 school year was the last under the existing conditions.

With 2,225 active students making at least seven room changes a day at Wausau High, a rare sight was that of a deserted corridor.

A more common sight was that of the crowded hall in which walking in the wrong direction meant facing a stampede of onrushing students.

School Faced A Serious Space Problem

Due to lack of space, films were shown in the auditorium mezzanine. At times, when many classes viewed them, there was standing room only.

Bellamy Award Delegates Gerry Mathisen, Mr. Reynolds, Betsy Harper, and Mrs. Scheurman represented us at Cherry Creek High, Colorado.

The basketball season opened with a hard fought contest between an eager group of male teachers and some avenging students.

The consequences of an exhausting Wahiscan picture-taking-day were felt by Barb Leffler, Nancy Schlitz, and Mr. Rosenhauer.

Lined up waiting for junior guard Frank Schade to yell for the break, the Jacks readied themselves to get the ball and two more points.

Winter Chills Brought Warm Memories

Bass players Wanda Witt and Reid Andrews practiced diligently in preparation for the annual music department's Christmas Concert.

During Christmas vacation a committee of junior girls sponsored their Holiday Dance to provide a scholarship for a senior girl.

of Student Events

After the many fall activities ranging from the beginning meetings of the first and third Wednesday clubs, to attending the Wausau Eve ceremonies, to practicing for the Senior Class Play, students settled down to the basic routine of school life. As fall turned into winter and days shortened, activities became even more numerous.

During Thanksgiving recess basketball fans filled the gym to capacity to watch the Lumberjacks battle with Milwaukee Lincoln. The football team had just completed a conference championship season. As the new seasons progressed the curlers brought back a state championship and the basketball team finished second only to Milwaukee Lincoln. During the three day basketball tournament, eleven busloads of students commuted between Wausau and Madison.

The spirit of Christmas invaded our halls and was climaxed with the music department's annual concert. During vacation the Junior Girls' Holiday Dance was held at the Wausau Club. The Tophatters' Show followed early in January. All too soon, however, the first semester closed with exam week and a day break.

Second semester events began with recognition of the retiring Student Council and installation of the new. The Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra returned to Wausau High for another one of their programs. At the second annual A.F.S. Day we hosted exchange students from throughout the area. The debaters competed in district and sectional tournaments and qualified for the state finals where they captured second. The music department also took part in contests, and the choir traveled into Minnesota on their tour. The third quarter ended with spring vacation.

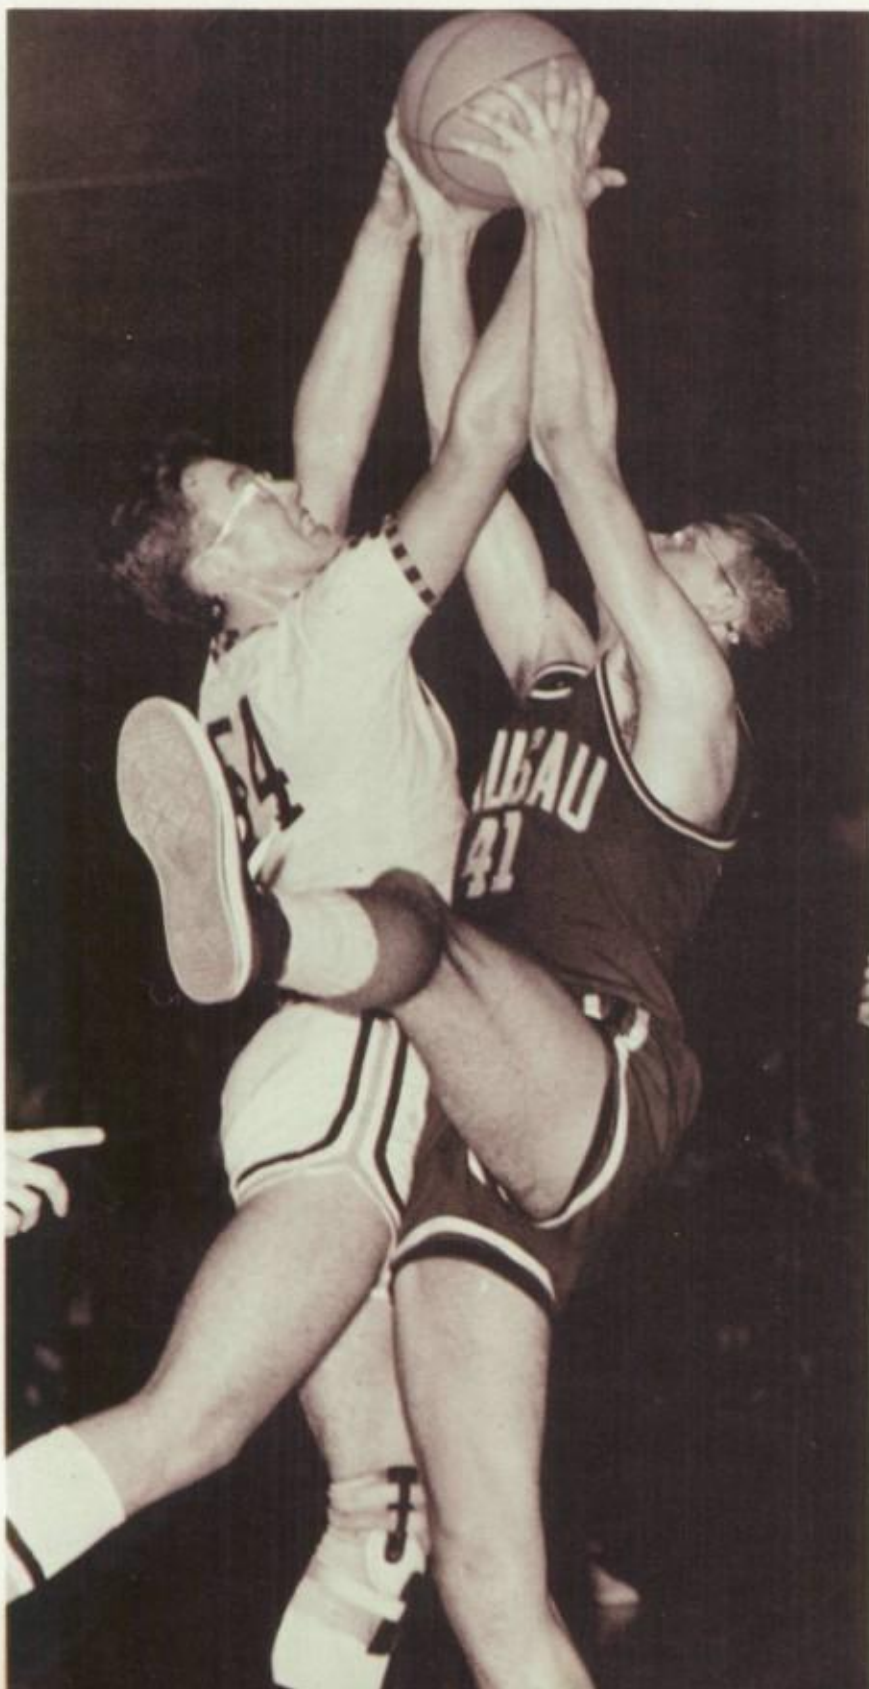

In an early season victory over Chippewa Falls forward Steve Anderson attempted a lay-up shot as Chris Evans awaited a possible rebound.

After a rousing pep assembly our Lumberjacks prepared to leave for the state basketball tournament in Madison.

Senior center, Ken Roeder, tied up the ball with a Loyal player in the final sectional game that enabled Wausau to go to state.

We Liked Our Jacks

After breaking through the Lumberjack hoop, guard Larry Edwards ran onto the floor in our first game of the state tournament.

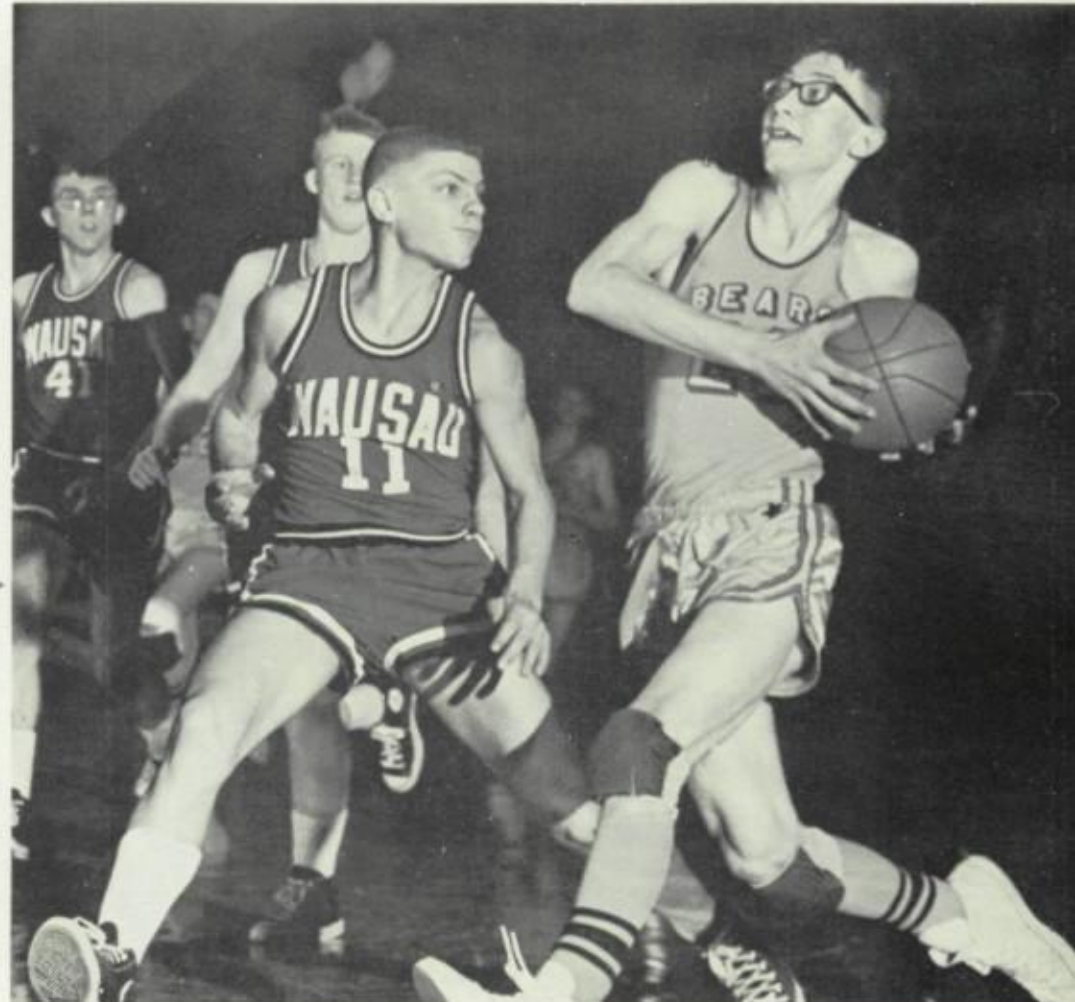

Excitement and anticipation filled our Jacks locker room following their semi-final victory over the Appleton Terrors.

Our Lumberjacks Were Dynamite at State

The tensions of reaching the championship game and battling Milwaukee Lincoln were seen on Coach Ken Anderson's face.

The determined efforts of Frank Schade against Barron reflected the team's attitude as they fought to second place in the state.

After debating the advantages of military aid, our debaters returned home from the state tournament with the second place trophy.

As Snow Piled Up Outside, WHS Students

Senior letterman Clarence Felch participated in the state wrestling tournament held in Madison at the end of February.

Our foreign exchange student, Felisa Lucido, and her American sister, Kathy Krueger, came into school on a cold winter morning.

In January, the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Harry John Brown, presented a student concert for the third straight year.

Visiting exchange students from throughout the area entertained our student body during an assembly on AFS Day.

Were Occupied With Activities Inside

To escape the tensions and the rigors of their senior year, these boys often found a change of pace in an out-witting game of poker.

Spring Meant Anticipation of Graduation

For some graduation meant the end of their formal schooling, but for many it was only the beginning of their education.

As classes resumed after Spring Vacation, students prepared for their last nine weeks of school. Melting snow and warmer weather often tempted many to neglect homework and participate in outdoor activities. Play rehearsal continued nightly as the cast of Shakespeare's A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM worked to produce a finished performance by May 3 and 4. The forensics team participated in the district competition at Stevens Point and all A winners then went on to the State Forensics Tournament at Madison.

Athletes became involved in the season's sports—baseball, tennis, track, and golf. The track team competed in several indoor meets, and then moved outside when the weather permitted. Coach Johnson's tennis team also did much practicing in the gym before moving to the Thom Field courts and entering into Big Rivers competition. The baseball team played their first season under the new lights at Athletic Park, while the golfers somehow played their games despite rain and muddy courses.

Juniors planned their Junior Prom as a parting gesture to the seniors. This year's theme was "Carrousel." Class President Dell Weaver and his committee spent much time in arranging one of our school's largest social events. As the seniors realized that their careers at WHS were coming to an end, final decisions for their futures were made. Exam week completed the academic year, as did distribution of the WAHISCAN to all students. As the class of 1967 marched onto Thom Field and received their diplomas, all knew that the school year was indeed over.

WHS hurler Bob Doede, one of the Jack's returning lettermen, delivered a sizzling fast ball in one of the season's opening games.

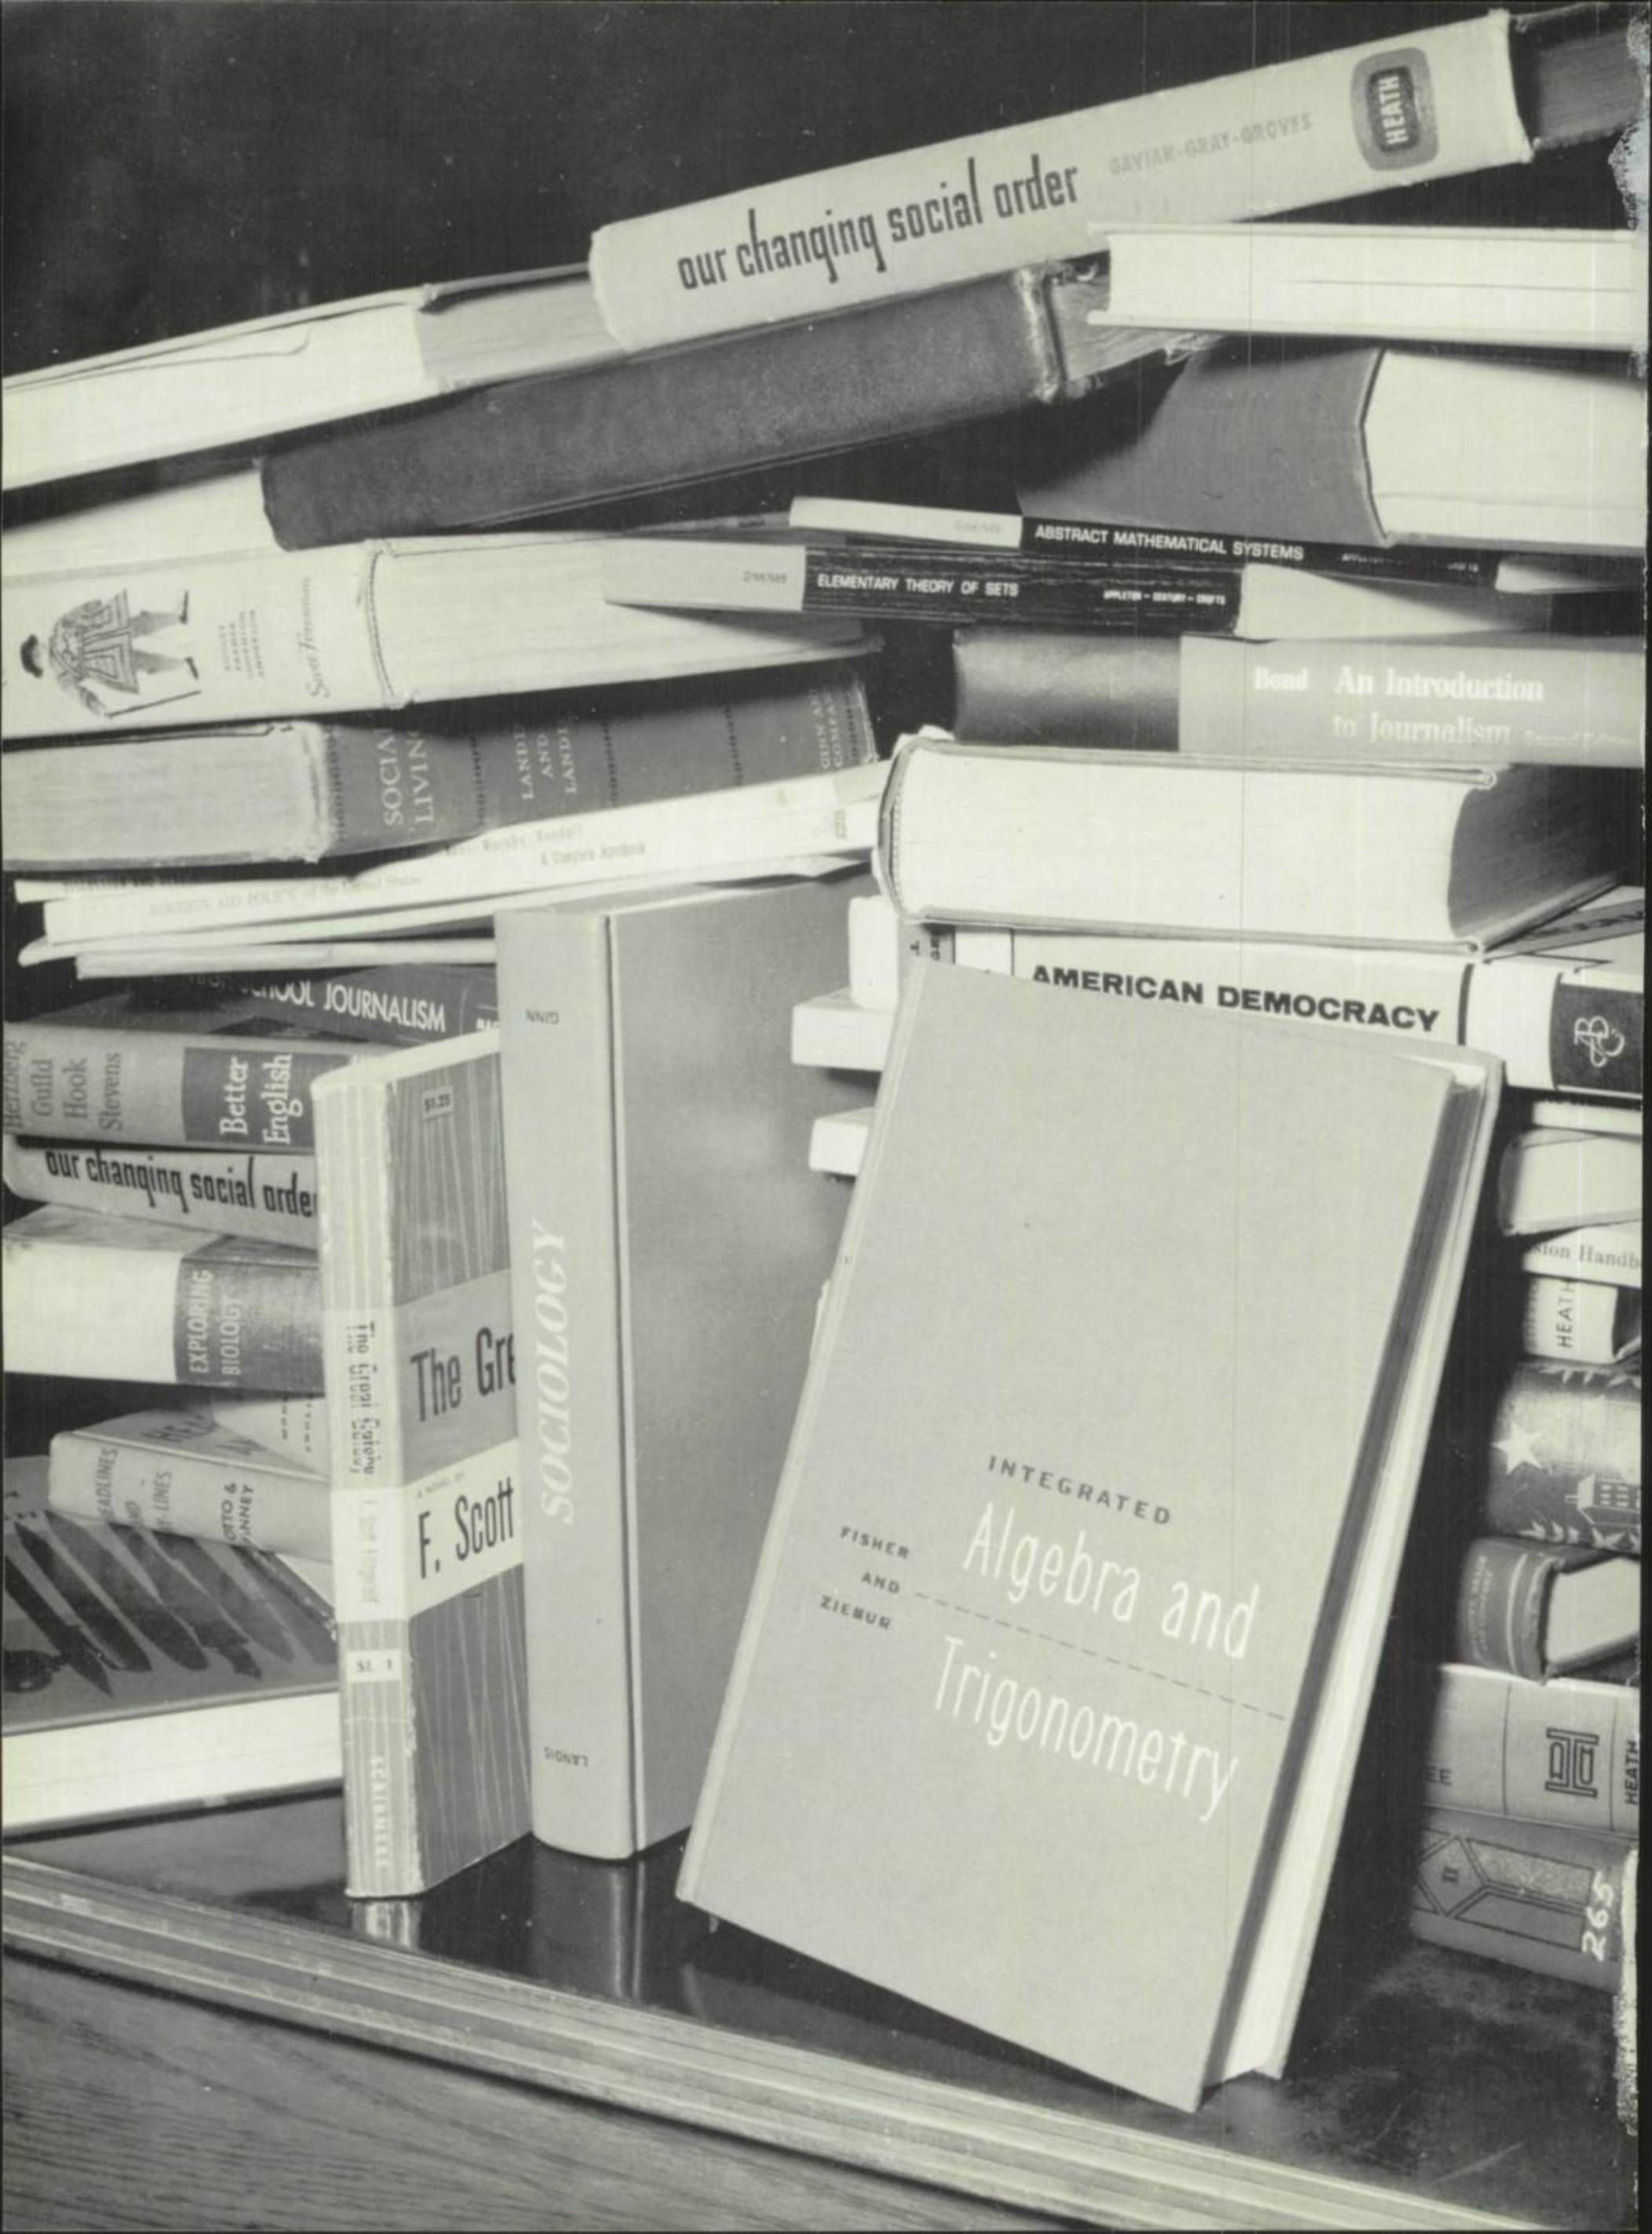

Arthur L. Henderson

Mr. Henderson Taught From 1926 to 1966

"A teacher's teacher" is the way a friend described the late Mr. Arthur Henderson. Mr. Henderson devoted a lifetime to the teaching profession, and more specifically to teaching in Wausau Senior High School. In 1931 Mr. Henderson began to teach history at WHS, and at one time served as debate coach.

For Mr. Henderson, teaching was a full-time occupation.

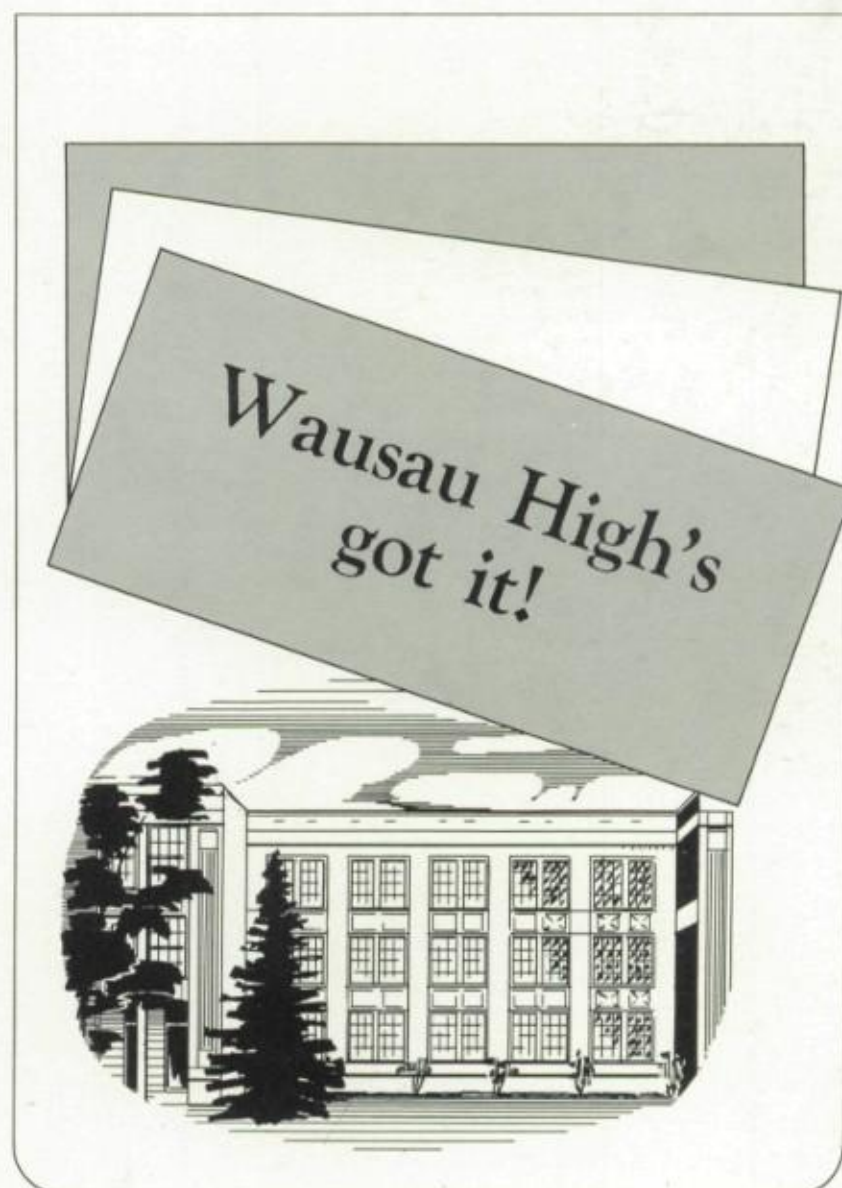

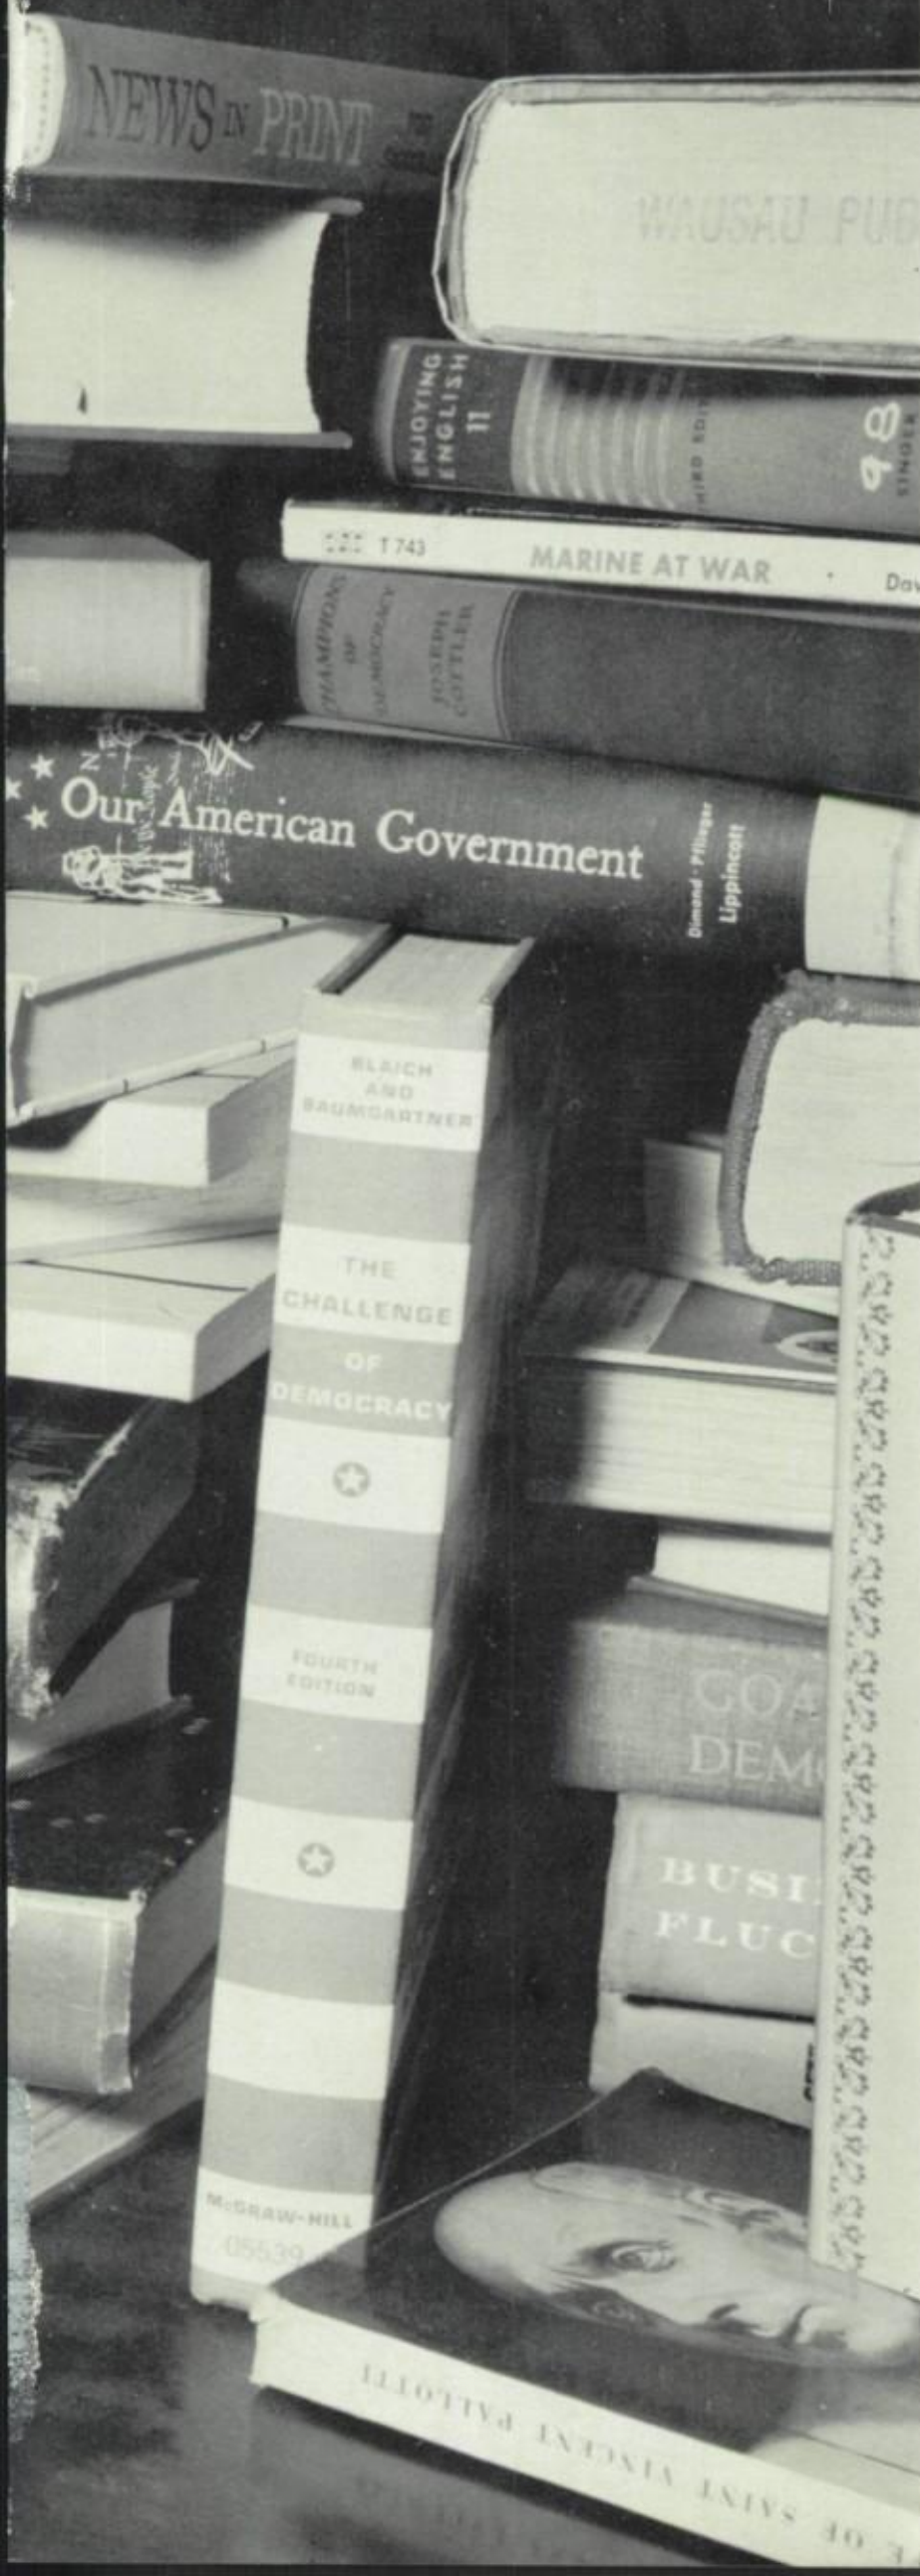

He spent many hours working after dismissal, on weekends, and during vacations. Often, when the rest of the school was dark, there was still light in room 152. We will never be able to measure the contributions he made to our school, to the thousands of students, to the teaching profession, and to the community, but we do know these contributions were many and great.

ACADEMICS

WAUSAU HIGH'S GOT IT—including a staff of 130 teachers, practice teachers, interns, and administrators. Over forty different subjects were taught ranging from electronics and math analysis to home economics and distributive education on varying levels of comprehension. The 1966-67 school year not only found Senior High with new teachers and new subjects, but also with a new superintendent, principal, and assistant principals. In a combined effort their goal was the training of the individual student.

Three new administrators assumed the challenging responsibilities of directing our school policies. Principal G. A. Jacobson and Assistant Principals J. O. Bollinger and R. W. Reynolds not only established the standards for a well-functioning curriculum, but they also faced the present problems of a large enrollment and the ensuing crowded conditions, and the future problems of building decisions. In addition to these duties they served as the representatives of our school in community affairs, and sought to put into effect the policies of the school board and other officials in order that the student would benefit.

The Wausau Board of Education not only determined Senior High School's direction, but also served all public schools in the city. Much time was spent this year on the increased enrollment and space problem throughout the entire system. Composed of citizens from the Wausau area, the board analyzed the issues, recommended plans for future years, and made final decisions. Director of Secondary Education E. H. Boettcher supervised the city school system in a similar manner. M. R. Taylor, new Superintendent of Schools and former Senior High Principal, acted as the individual representative of all these authoritative bodies.

Mr. Southworth, new to our guidance staff, discussed modern trends in education to an interested student.

Guidance Personnel Provided Assistance

As junior class advisor, Mr. Anderson was often found helping concerned students plan their education.

Our Local Vocational Coordinator, Mr. Bartel, directed the vocational education program for the various school departments.

Mr. Swenby, as head of the guidance department, was always ready to counsel students on future aims and plans.

To WHS Students

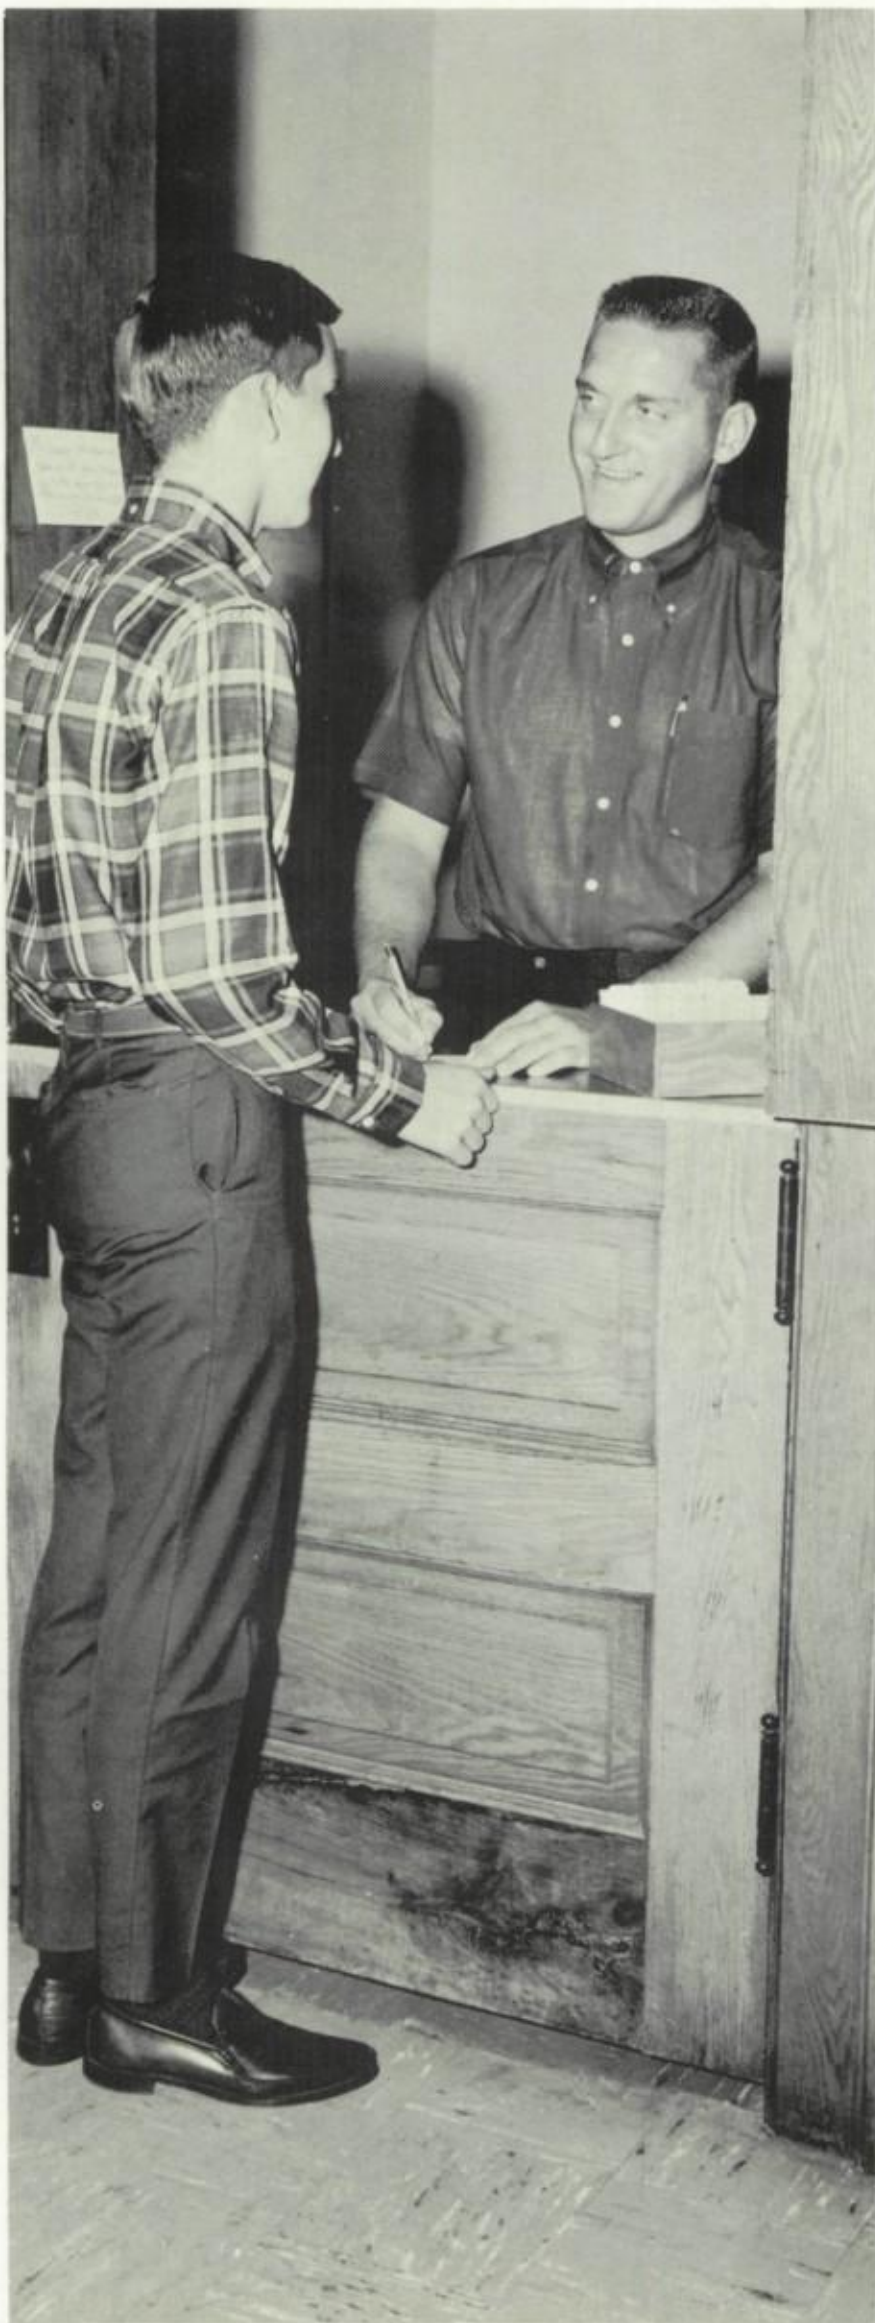

As society progresses and the problems of the world become more evident, it is the concern of the guidance department that all students understand themselves in relation to the world they live in. Counseling offered every WHS student an opportunity to know his assets as well as his limitations so that he is prepared to meet the demands of our changing society. Educational, vocational and personal counseling were available to all students who were interested in the utmost development of themselves for their own individual satisfaction and also for the benefit of today's society.

Through group guidance programs students were assisted with activities such as initial orientation, program planning, club activities, career days, college and aptitude tests, work experience programs and numerous other informational opportunities. These and other facilities of the guidance department enabled students to devote time to the various aspects of school life which contribute to a well-rounded individual. These programs made it possible for students to learn to "know thyself."

There were five counselors on the guidance staff who worked with the students of Wausau Senior High School. The problems of many seniors in selecting and applying to a college was ably handled by two counselors: Mr. Swenby, the director, and Mrs. Eikeland. Mr. Anderson spent his time counseling juniors along with the help of Mr. Southworth, who worked with both juniors and sophomores. The greatest number of sophomores were assisted with their problems by Mr. Leffin.

Mr. Leffin devoted several moments of his time to helping senior Carol Winkelman in her quest for college material.

Mr. Thomas, attendance director, greeted tardy students with a smile and a "How come you were late?"

The office secretaries, Mrs. LaCerte, Mrs. Seavers and Mrs. Tetzlaff, were responsible for the smooth operation of our school.

Specialized Duties

Mr. Cox served as head of the Youth Corps, which provided part-time work for many Wausau Senior High students.

Our school's teaching staff was relieved of administrative duties by specialized members. The problem of keeping attendance records in a school of our size was handled by Mr. Eugene Thomas. Along with his usual attendance duties, he supervised monitors and admitted tardy students.

Meals were served in the school lunchroom by the cafeteria staff, headed by Mrs. Margaret Trittin. Mrs. Retha Poppe prepared all the menus, which gave participating students a balanced, nourishing lunch at a low cost.

Mrs. Marjorie Seavers, senior secretary in the office, issued outside passes and was the "middle man" for student city and rural bus applications and tickets, and Mrs. Elvera Tetzlaff handled permanent records and the W.I.A.A. insurance. In addition, the office secretaries performed the miscellaneous duties of distributing mail, recording entries and withdrawals, running off copy on ditto and mimeo machines, permanent records, inventory, and many others too numerous to mention. Their efficiency enabled our school to run smoothly day after day.

The department secretaries, while having numerous specific duties, also seemed to always be able to lend a helping hand to teachers. They assisted by doing typing, checking in and out the tape recorders and record players and handing out supplies. The department secretaries were responsible for seeing that their department ordered and received the movies that both the department heads and individual teachers thought necessary for the courses they taught.

A new program was instituted at Wausau Senior High school with Mr. Elmer Cox as its head. The Neighborhood Youth Corps enabled many students to help themselves by helping others.

Mrs. Judith Griffin, school nurse, handled WHS health facilities and administered to students who weren't feeling well.

Communication Skills Were Developed in Writing and Speaking

English Classes II, III, IV, as in past years, continued to stress the importance of skills and techniques in reading, writing, speaking, and listening.

The prose and poetry of American and English writers were read and discussed in our many literature courses.

Speech, composition and journalism aided those students who had a bent for creative writing. Amateur actors and actresses developed their talents in drama classes.

Our English program was again geared to give help to all levels. There were classes for students with reading and writing difficulties — classes for the average — and classes for the college-bound.

Margaret E. Zielsdorf, Director of the English Department, with chalk in hand, is about to discuss Modern Linguistics and Structural Grammar with a group of interested, advanced sophomores.

Social Science Helped Students Solve

The social science department provided three required courses for WHS students. In addition, one elective was offered to seniors. These courses were taught by fourteen teachers under the direction of Mr. Lee, department head. Another special course in this department was debate, coached by Mr. Marquardt. Only those students that were selected during their sophomore year were eligible for the class. They analyzed and discussed this year's question on foreign aid. They then participated in tournaments throughout Wisconsin.

The tenth grade student, in the required world history course, gained a conception of the political, economic, and religious problems that have affected other countries. This world picture helped him to understand the arena in which his own country is playing a part.

The eleventh grader reviewed the early background of his country. He studied in detail the history of the United States since the Civil War with emphasis on its growth as well as its political, economic, and social problems and their relationship to the rest of the world.

In sociology the senior attempted to understand the forces that shape and mold the human personality and applied this knowledge to his own life. Those seniors who elected economics were able to get a greater insight into the operation of our economy and were able to more intelligently apply these basic principles to his own economic life.

Mr. Olaf Lee, head of the History Department, attempted to arouse an interest in archeology in one of his world history classes.

Science Courses Challenged Students

Students felt the desire to take notes as they learned the basics of science in Mr. Dzubay's modern science classes.

The entire science department was geared to accommodate every student with an interest in science. The biology department offered biology and life science to students who hadn't fulfilled these obligations in junior high school. These subjects taught the intricate workings of nature and how the many living organisms live and survive.

Chemistry was offered to accelerated sophomores and to many juniors and seniors as a college preparatory course. Here they learned by experience the results of chemical investigations and reactions.

Physics, taught by Mr. Harkness, was concerned with teaching advanced ideas in such subjects as forces, motion, and power. A new program was also originated with the entire group of physics students attending a mass presentation in the auditorium once every week, also taught by Mr. Harkness.

For the accelerated seniors with desires to take a final course in science, an integrated science class was offered. Consisting of an advanced combination of biology, chemistry, and physics, it was designed to give these few students an extra course in preparation for a career in science.

Commercial Courses

Business Education has become a vital and integral part of the school's educational program, sharing with other areas of education responsibilities for developing knowledge, attitudes, and skills essential to effective living.

The objectives of the Business Education department were as follows: to provide proficiency in marketable skills and knowledge which will prepare young men and women to meet job standards for initial employment in one of the business fields, to provide students with the necessary basic understandings of business to develop personal consumer competency and to relate the role of the consumer to the total economy, and to provide for development of business skills for personal use.

Recent changes instituted at Wausau Senior High designed to contribute to these objectives included: setting up of a distributive education program, which included cooperative education (on-the-job training) to develop the occupational skills to market, merchandise, and manage the flow of goods and services, establishment of an office machines laboratory to develop occupational skills for employment as clerical and secretarial workers in business offices and instigation of a Consumer Economics course to develop consumer competency through an understanding of economic concepts as applied to use in a personal business.

The Business Education department was geared to accept the challenge of training young people to take a position in the field of marketing or distribution, in the business office, or to be better consumers of business products.

Special Ed Courses Offered at WHS

This year Wausau Senior High School's special education classes were handled by Mrs. Elena Dzubay. These classes were set up to eliminate the competition with students of a higher ability, and accordingly, remained largely ungraded. Mrs. Dzubay attempted to give all her students a basic education in each of the main areas of schoolwork so that they might become more capable and productive individuals.

Throughout the year, a few of her students were able to participate in special camps. These camps gave the slower learners more training for jobs after graduation.

New Math Delighted Many, Puzzled Most

Math department head, Mr. J. B. Luttrell, used an intricate diagram to solve a difficult problem in an advanced class.

The 1966-67 school year found a great deal of growth in the Wausau High School Mathematics department. Enrollment in math classes increased from 880 students in 1965-66 to 980. With the increase in numbers of students came problems in facilities and schedules. There were six available teachers with only four classrooms to accommodate them. To help solve the dilemma Mr. Stillman and Mr. Luttrell became traveling teachers, operating out of different classrooms throughout the day, while the other four, Miss Hedblom, Mr. Lund, Mr. Rietz, and Mr. Shawl gave up their rooms during free hours.

The sophomores had an abundant choice of subjects which they could take. The vocational minded math students chose between general algebra, geometry, and math 2. The college bound sophomores were in either advanced geometry or algebra class, while those undecided selected either basic geometry or algebra. To accommodate all these students, Mr. Lund took an extra geometry class, while Mr. Luttrell and Mr. Stillman both found themselves in Business Education rooms with each having an extra general math class.

The juniors and seniors had fewer math class choices, the larger portion of the juniors enrolled in either basic or advanced algebra, while the seniors selected mainly math analysis. There were smatterings of both classes in the geometry and finite classes, the latter class being an introduction into probability, matrices, and statistics.

An important aspect realized by the end of the term was the availability of an overhead projector in every room to supplement the blackboard space, more filmstrips for the movie projector, and more library materials.

Miss Hedblom offered assistance to a student who seemed to be having difficulties in squaring second degree polynomials.

WHS Offered Three Foreign Languages

Under the supervision of Mrs. Elda Bonvincin, the foreign language department provided an interesting and informative choice of studies to every Wausau Senior High School student who was interested. German, French, and Spanish were offered as electives, with placement into first, second, third, or fourth year classes, depending on the students' previous language education. These courses emphasize development of 4 basic skills: speaking, comprehending, reading, and writing the language.

The department made use of a vast array of facilities. Each class used the language laboratory several times a week to develop the reading and comprehension skills. In the classroom, in addition to textbooks, they used tapes, records, filmstrips, flash cards, and photographs. Also added this year was a new overhead projector.

Some of the most important aspects of the year for the language students were the language contests, held every spring. Spanish students were chosen to take part in the Annual Spanish Pronunciation contest. French students participated in the annual French Poetry contest, while German students took the State German Exams.

The general trend of increased enrollments and crowded conditions was also evident in the language department. More students selected a foreign language than in previous years, and one French class met daily in the SKYROCKET room to relieve the conditions. This trend appears likely to continue, especially in the advanced classes, with a moderate increase expected in the first and second year language courses next year.

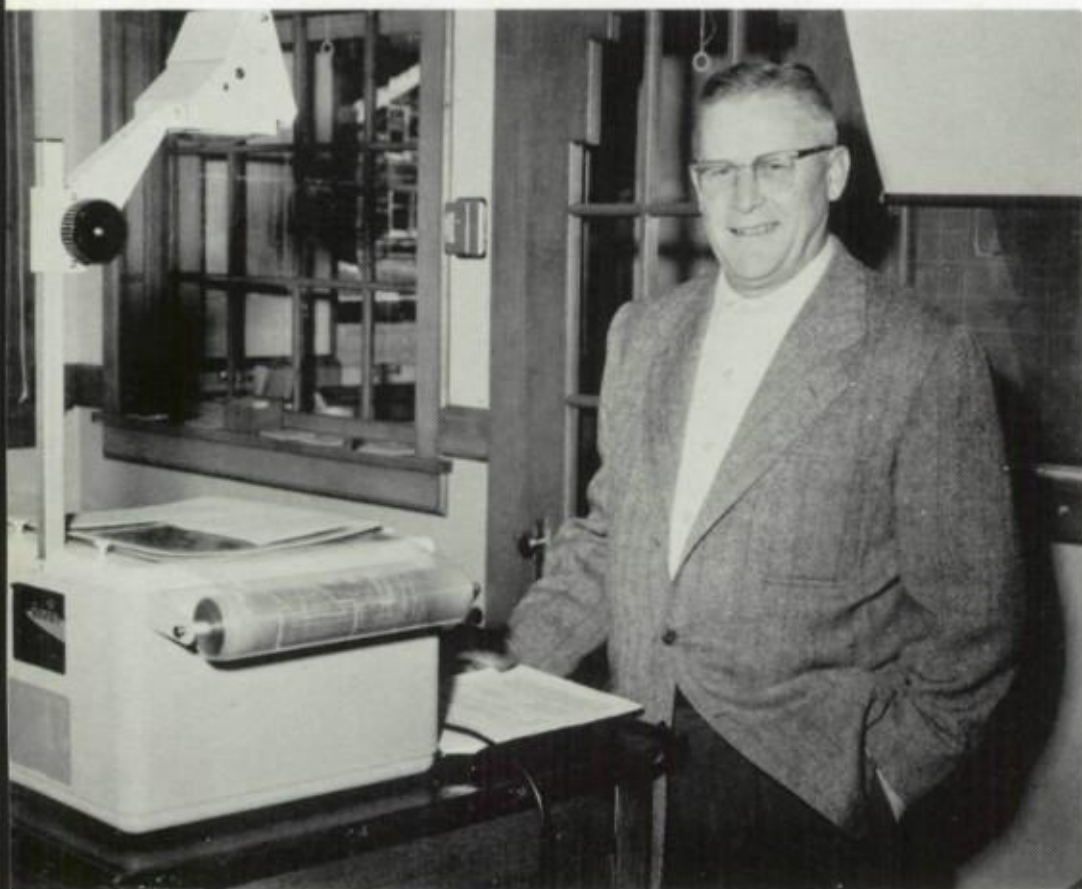

Miss Elda Bonvincin, language department head, urged constant use of the language laboratory by her Spanish and German students.

Mr. Manuel Rodas, an intern teacher from Guatemala, brought a little bit of South American culture into his Spanish classes.

Courses Developed Practical Skills and

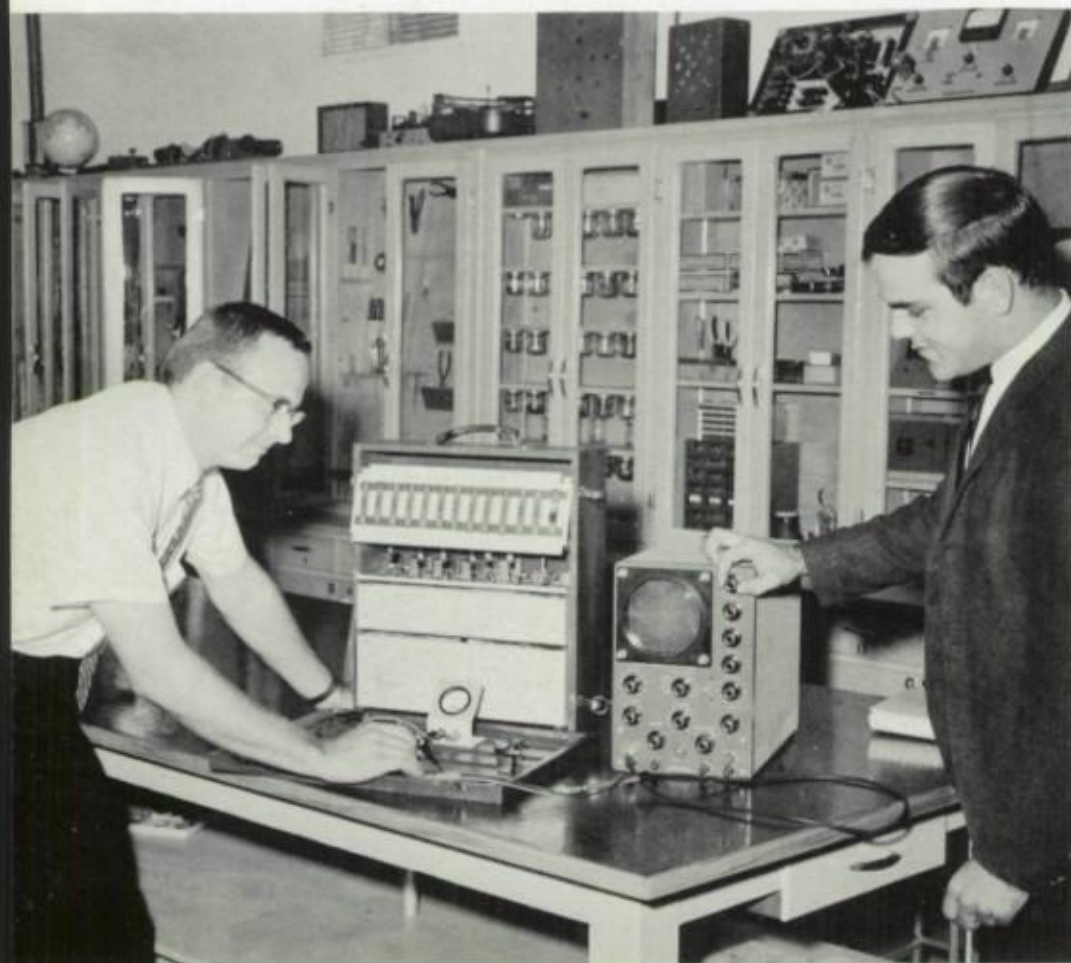

Mathew Gjetson, director of Industrial Arts, made use of an overhead projector to convey ideas to his drafting classes.

The Industrial Arts Department taught technical skills to many young men. The courses offered were many and varied: woodworking, electronics, power mechanics, auto mechanics and drafting. This diversity prepared students for technical occupations and for college careers.

Many young women took advantage of our Home Economics Department to learn the basic skills used in the home. Units of study included sewing, cooking, and child development. Home economics helped many students to prepare for life.

Driver Education, a required course for sophomores, taught the basic fundamentals of road safety. A further selective course was Driver Training, which gave behind-the-wheel training to all students who requested it.

To demonstrate the fine points of circuits, Mr. Smith and Mr. Schneider devised this intricate electrical system.

In a unit on child care and development Mrs. Matthews taught her Senior Survey students how to bathe a baby.

Fine Arts Department Attempted to Help

Mr. Riege, director of both the Horace Mann and Senior High School orchestras, led his fine stringed group in a spirited overture.

The Fine Arts Department of Wausau Senior High School helped bring to a focus the many capabilities of the participating students. Under the watchful eyes of the instructors, these students were able to find personal fulfillment through their chosen courses. The progress they achieved in their courses will better enable them to meet the complexities of life outside the classroom.

Fulfilling its purpose of entertaining the student body, in addition to providing competitive practice among fine musicians, the band was much appreciated by the entire school system. The concert band presented several concerts, both by itself and in conjunction with the orchestra and choir. The marching band, led by drum major John Drubay, performed admirably at all the home football games. The pep band enlivened pep assemblies and half-times at all home basketball games with its music.

The orchestra, led by Mr. David Riege, performed at many cultural functions. In addition to the concert orchestra, a chamber orchestra was selected from the top chairs of the concert orchestra. This group, composed of strings, did not play for the general public, but instead, entertained and provided background music for smaller select audiences. It can be said that this group of students supplied much of the culture that the student body was exposed to.

Mr. Lowell Larson directed the choir to one of its finest years. With the responsibilities of the Glee Club taken care of by Miss Margret Pierce, he was better able to spend more of his time improving the choir. Many of the assemblies were also performed by the concert choir, and individual members of the choir took advantage of their training to participate in community programs.

Students with skillful hands and creative minds were often lured to the art classes under the capable instruction of Mr. Carlton Reinemann. Art students were expected to see beauty in all that was around them and express themselves with a lump of clay, paint and brushes, charcoal and paper, or even some old scraps of metal and wood. Many fine pieces of creative work were turned out by art students.

Physical Education Offered Variety

As Athletic Director, Win Brockmeyer headed the physical education department at W.H.S. He coached the football team to another BRC crown and helped the golf team to more victories.

In the typical tradition of Wausau Senior High School, the physical education department offered a program designed to accommodate every student possible. Girls found themselves participating in such activities as table tennis, volleyball, softball, tumbling, folk dancing, marching, and golf. They were active throughout the year learning the skills that go along with these subjects. In addition, the teaching staff emphasized that the girls practice sportsmanlike conduct. By the time the physical fitness tests were through at the end of the year, the girls realized that they had also gained prowess in the muscular areas of physical education.

The heart and soul of the boys physical education program was also variety. During the fall, classes trooped to Thom Field for fast moving football games. Throughout the rest of the year, students participated in fitness tests, basketball, tumbling, volleyball, badminton, field hockey, and finally softball and football again at Thom Field. As in girls physical education, the boys learned skills in these activities, as well as experiencing sportsmanship and team play.

The entire physical education department was under the direction of Mr. Win Brockmeyer. He organized the phy. ed. program and controlled the school's athletic department. He also served as coach of the school's football and golf teams.

STUDENT LIFE

When social activities are considered, WAUSAU HIGH'S GOT IT. From the five fall days of Wausau Week — when our queen candidates campaigned, a Green Bay Packer visited, Barb Wood became queen, and the Lumberjacks beat La Crosse Central to the final night of graduation, the social calendar was filled. In between that time our school produced two plays, sponsored the Junior Girls' Holiday Dance, presented the Tophatter's stage band show, broadened its outlook through our exchange students, and danced at the Junior Prom.

Pat Chrouser performed his duties as Master of Ceremonies before a near capacity crowd in our gymnasium.

On a crisp Friday afternoon this fall, our annual Wausau Week activities began with the final queen nominations. Before the day was through, committees were being formed and ideas shaped for the busy week ahead.

Early Monday morning, at the Kick-off assembly, a rousing cheer sparked the enthusiasm that carried the students throughout the week. The campaign for Wausau Day Queen was in full swing with posters and booster buttons decorating the school. On Tuesday the contest came to a noisy completion with a parade of the five girls and colorful vehicles of all kinds.

The much anticipated Wausau Eve was attended by an enthusiastic crowd of students, teachers, and alumni. Master of Ceremonies Pat Chrouser introduced the pep club's skit, given by a group of girls who humorously portrayed the upcoming game against LaCrosse Central. This was followed by the senior girls' version of the Bunny Hop, and an interview of Bob Long of the Green Bay Packers by Mark Zelich. As a feature of the program, Charles King entertained the audience with a variety of songs, and before the program was over, everyone was singing. Miss Wisconsin then displayed her talents for art and music. Following this was a performance by the 1967 Tophatters, and the pep band. The silent spell of the crowd was broken by the announcement that Barb Wood had been chosen the 1967 Wausau Day Queen. Barb reigned over the dance that followed.

Our Wausau Week activities came to a very successful conclusion with the Lumberjacks' crushing 48-7 victory over LaCrosse Central. The spirited victory hop was presided over by Queen Barb and her court.

The spirited girls from the pep club showed their football skill in this mock game against LaCrosse Central.

Miss Wisconsin exhibited an impressionistic painting from GONE WITH THE WIND as the audience listened intently to "Tara's Theme."

Of Frenzied Fun

Green Bay Packer Bob Long subdued a laugh as Mark Zelich told one of his traditionally dry-humored jokes.

Charles King captivated his listeners with his miraculous powers of expression and his accompanying songs.

In a tense moment the five queen candidates waited anxiously as Pat Chrouser opened the envelope that contained the results.

Barb Wood Honored As Wausau Day Queen

An inside glimpse on Homecoming night caught the queen, her court, and their escorts at a moment of cherished joy.

"Happiness is a bouquet of roses and the warmth expressed by fellow students," thought Barb Wood after being crowned Wausau Day Queen.

Seniors Presented "Dark of the Moon"

Mrs. Ohland, Miss Schadney, and student directors Nancy Schlitz and Barb Leffler worked diligently to make "Dark of the Moon" a success.

This year's senior class play combined mysticism with reality producing a fantasy that personally affected each member of the audience. A great deal of hard work and effort by the cast, stage crew, play crews, and student and faculty directors resulted in making the play the success that it was.

"Dark of the Moon," held on November 16 and 17, was set in the Black Hills of the Smokey Mountains with the plot revolving around the lives of the hillbillies who lived in the area. The play related the story of the love between Barbara Allen and John the witch boy. In order to be married, the Conjur Woman had to change John into a human. If Barbara was not faithful for one year, the supernatural people would not only win John back, but also claim the life of Barbara Allen. The marriage lasted almost a year, but on the night before the year was up, Barbara was forced to be unfaithful to John because of the strong religious and social beliefs of the townspeople. The supernatural people got John back and Barbara Allen died a tragic death.

Realistic scenery, imaginative lighting, and well-mastered hillbilly dialect heightened the effect of the play. Entertainer Charles King said that "Dark of the Moon" was one of the best productions he had ever seen. The audience responded favorably to a successful senior undertaking.

"Baby shoes" revived memories of childhood days, and added variety and style to the popular fashion.

Brightly colored paisley and polka-dotted shirts found their way into the wardrobes of these fun-loving boys.

The Year's Various Fads Invaded WHS

Masses of motorcycles, bikes, and scooters lined many of the streets, using every available parking area surrounding senior high.

Students Promoted World of Understanding

Tiny Felisa Lucido demonstrated the only way to get those books from way back on the locker shelves.

Imagine yourself in a strange country. Then imagine the first day of school with nearly 2,500 kids whose language you don't understand. I assure you this is a very frightening experience. I know because it happened to me. But in looking back I can say that many of my worries were not justified. The teachers were extremely kind and helpful and all of you were great. Everyone made me feel welcome by the interest shown in me and my country. Your language seems to be part of me and I like it. There will be many good things to tell about America when I get home. So long and thank you. I will be back. . .

Moshe Platner
Moshe Platner

Everyone, young or old, lives in an endless world of dreams. But very rarely do we realize their fulfillment. Coming to this country was not only the greatest dream I used to have, but the least I had expected to come true. It did though, and the reality was more than I dreamed.

My year in the U. S. has been and will be the greatest year of my life. It has given me a deeper understanding of the country and its people's baffling culture. I have come to realize that Americans are not really what people abroad think they are. Misconceptions of this country are common abroad, and these I found to be products of movies, newspapers, and magazines. I will return to the Philippines with high hopes of erasing these from the minds of my people.

Along with other things that I'll be taking back, are wonderful memories which you, Wausau and Wausau Senior High, have shared with me. Each of you have become a part of myself. So much more could be said, but right now I can only say "Thank you" for everything you've done for me. I will not say "PAALAM" (good bye), for I am sure we will meet again some day. It's such a small world after all, that seeing each other again wouldn't be an impossibility. . . but until then, so long. . .

A sunny winter day found Moshe Platner, our foreign student from Israel, on his way to knowledge of another American sport.

The 1966 Junior Girls' Dance Committee consisted of: Milee Nelson, decorations; Grace Reinke and Peggy Strek, co-chairmen; Lynn Gullickson, invitations; Patty Yunk, finance; Barb Nelson, food and chaperones; and Jan Gajewski, publicity.

Junior Girls' Dance Set in Wintry Scene

In the middle of October, when most of us thought of Christmas as being a long time away, a group of industrious Junior girls began working for the Junior Girls' Dance to be held December 27. As the date drew near, the decorations were completed, refreshments ordered, and invitations sent.

Sparkling snowflakes, glittering white trees, and black couple silhouettes provided a wintry atmosphere for "Some Enchanted Evening," the theme of this year's Junior Girls' Holiday Dance. Old-fashioned wooden benches and gas lamps decorated the Wausau Club to enhance the park scene. As senior high girls and their escorts passed through a white gate they entered the ballroom, filled with the music of Larry Woodbury and his orchestra. Couples weary from dancing gathered in the adjacent Terrace Room downstairs where four Horace Mann girls served refreshing punch and Christmas cookies.

The girls who sponsored the dance were very enthusiastic about its success as its proceeds meant a larger scholarship for a senior girl in the spring.

Junior Girls' couples enjoyed dancing to Larry Woodbury's Orchestra beneath stars and white snowflakes.

1967 Tophatters Band Developed Varied

Ken Salzman and Bev Dzubay entertained the audience with a modern interpretative dance done to "It's All Right With Me."

The 1967 Tophatters made their debut for this season at the Wausau Eve program, playing during a short intermission and providing music, adding to the majesty of the coronation. Months of preparation were climaxed at the band's annual program on January 14, 1967.

The opening drumbeats of the theme song, "Serenade to a Zombie," brought chills to hundreds of listeners. A varied program included instrumental Beatle numbers, Tijuana Brass selections, and a combination of modern interpretations of old favorites. A dance troupe of twelve girls added color with a kickline routine, while Bev Dzubay and Ken Salzman did an original jazz expose. Vocal solos were performed by JoAnn Loiz, Duane Moen, and Eric Schaefer, and Duane and Dave Johnston combined in a duet of "One Hand, One Heart." Blue Shadows in the Street," a progressive jazz number, featured Tom Rounds on the piano. Instrumentation of the group was provided by woodwind, brass, and percussion sections. The band was under the direction of Tom Rounds, student leader, and Ronald Evenstad and Lowell Larson, adult advisors.

Following the 1967 Tophatters show, the group also made several appearances on television, performed for service clubs, and provided background music for "Our Fair Lady," a local style show.

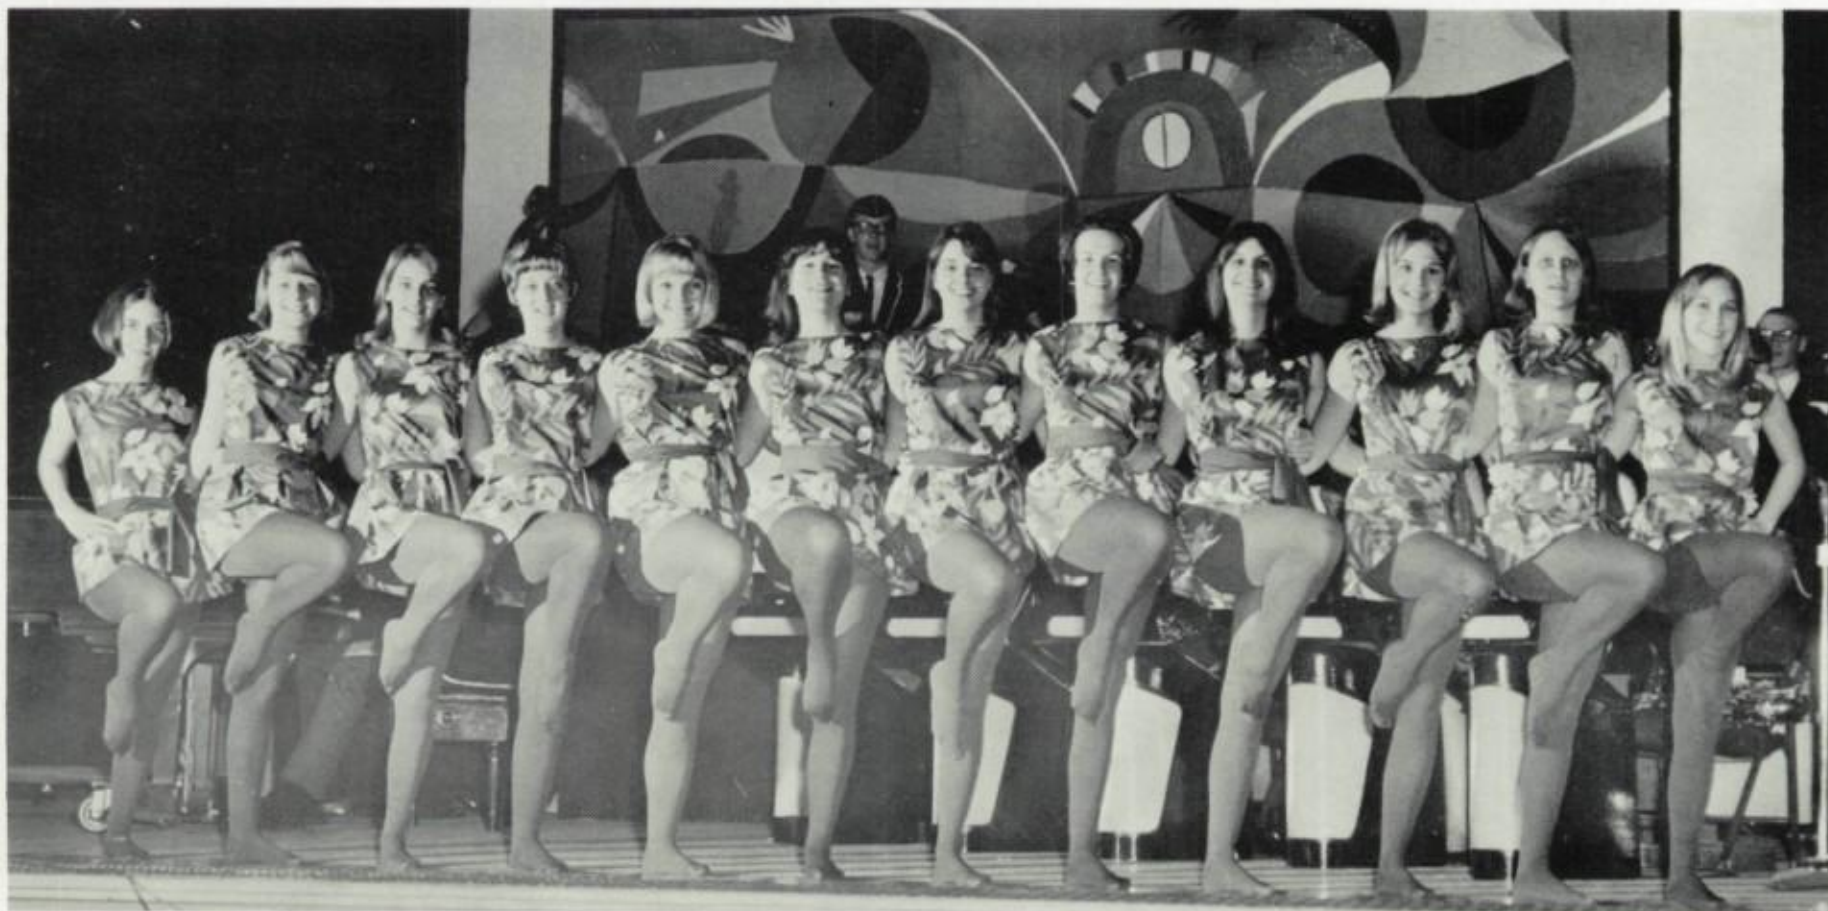

Master of Ceremonies Pat Chrouser tried to persuade Scott Buechler not to play his unrehearsed trumpet number.

The voices of JoAnn Loiz, Eric Schaefer, and Duane Moen greatly added to the enjoyment of the Tophatters Show. (Absent: Dave Johnston.)

“Carrousel” Was Theme for Spring Prom

Mary Day, Dawn Bliese, Jamie Bliese, Nancy Braithwaite, and Danny Kasten were just a few juniors who helped in making Prom decorations.

A carnival setting captured the fancy of those who attended the 1967 Junior Prom on April 28. Upon entering the Youth Building in Marathon Park, couples were greeted with the soft music by Larry Woodbury and his Orchestra. In the center stood a large carrousel surrounded by eight wooden horses, obtaining the proper atmosphere of “Carrousel.” Delicately made shrubs and plants outlined the dance floor and refreshments were served in an old-fashioned circus wagon. A balloon tree against the back wall helped create a mood of fun, excitement, and gaiety.

The memorable evening was climaxed by the crowning of Queen Debi Miller by her king, Dell Weaver. Following the coronation was the Grand March which included Student Council officers and commissioners, committee chairmen, and class officers.

After the dance, couples were invited to the Post Prom held at the Wausau Club, and sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Shortly after midnight, a buffet dinner was served. Private parties before and after the Prom were held to establish or continue the excitement. Saturday morning decorations were torn down, many of which were kept for scrapbooks and bulletin boards.

Students Produced Shakespearean Comedy

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" originally performed as a court comedy at a wedding, was undertaken as this year's Spring Play. The large cast was chosen from the school at large with Mrs. Ohland and Miss Schadney as directors and Nancy Schlitz and Rick Lang assisting.

The play told of the Duke of Athens who was arranging his wedding with Hippolyta, the Queen of the Amazons. In another part of Athens, the vivacious Hermia was faced with death or life as a nun if she would not marry Demetrius as her father wished. Hermia loved another youth, Lysander, and the two decided to meet in the safety of the nearby woods. The jealous Helena loved Demetrius and revealed their plot to win his favor. Fairies who had come to bless the wedding haunted that forest, however, and a quarrel between their King and Queen complicated things for the young lovers. The knavish Puck put the juice of a flower into the eyes of Lysander and Demetrius which caused them both to fall in love with Helena. When Puck amended his mistake, Hermia and Lysander and Helena and Demetrius arranged to be married. This plan suited Egeus, and the couples were wed along with the royalty.

A modified Grecian set was used with the stage crew providing lighting to create special illusions. The costumes were also Greek in design. Much of the music used was original, composed by Jon Bendrick and Mr. Lowell Larson. Choreography for the fairies and the "Bergomask," a rustic country dance, was done by Ken Salzman.

Chrouser, Levine, Andrews, Borth, Papa, and Ferguson were found diligently practicing their lines between classes, after school and evenings.

Larry Edwards, Frank Schade, and Todd Carver crowded into a Madison telephone booth to inform "mommy" of their safe arrival.

Senior forward Ken Roeder went up for a layup while Lincoln's Larry Thomas waited to grab the rebound.

State Tourney Added Excitement to WHS

"There may be one school in Wisconsin that's happier than we are today, but there's none prouder. "These words of Mark Zelich expressed the thoughts of us all after the basketball tournament was over and Wausau had returned with the second place trophy.

On March 11th the cry "On to State" became a reality when Wausau defeated Loyal for the sectional championship. On Thursday hundreds of students piled into cars and buses headed toward Madison for Wausau's first trip since 1960. In their first game the Jacks beat a tough Barron team and earned the right to play Appleton the next night. After a thrilling victory over the Terrors, our team received a long awaited rematch with Milwaukee Lincoln. The Lincoln game proved to be the most exciting. At the half, victory seemed within our grasp. However, a five minute stall prevented our players from scoring and the game ended with Wausau five points behind.

On Sunday when they returned, the team, coaches, and managers received public congratulations from school and city officials at an assembly at senior high.

Sleepless days, sore throats, a few tears, and a lot of pride in a great group of boys and their coach . . . these are all part of the memories of tournament time 1967.

Coach Anderson gave a rundown of the tournament and related some of the humorous events that occurred during the week.

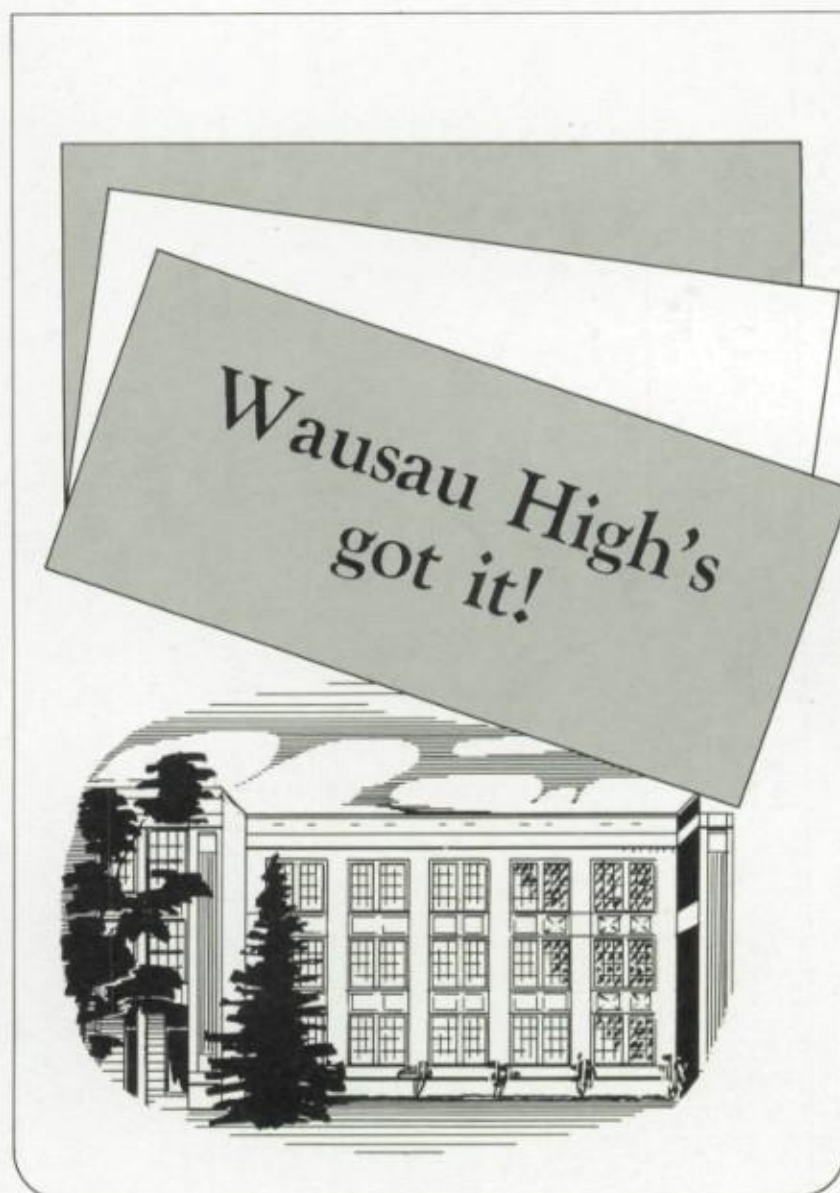

ACTIVITIES

The Student Council discussed the petition system and school prayers. Members of the Wahiscan staff spent every seventh period in efforts to produce an All-American yearbook. Band members practiced marching on a muddy field while the choir looked forward to its spring tour. The varsity debaters placed second in the state tournament, and the camera club produced a candid film on student life. All these activities, and more, made the individual realize that WAUSAU HIGH'S GOT IT.

Long Hours Were Spent in Preparation for

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF THE WAHISCAN

Gerry Mathisen, Editor-In-Chief of the 1967 WAHISCAN, relaxed after another rough day at the WAHISCAN office.

ASSOCIATE ASSISTANT EDITORS OF THE WAHISCAN

Sandy Anklam and Barb Leffler, Associate Editors of the WAHISCAN staff, examined every inch of other yearbooks in search of new ideas.

The WAHISCAN published annually for the past fifty-one years, endeavored to present to the student body and faculty of WHS at the end of the 1966-67 school year an accurate and entertaining summary of the year's activities. Only three members of the 1966 WAHISCAN Staff returned, but the remaining fifteen staff members soon became trained in the art of planning pictures, laying out pages, and writing copy, captions, and headlines. The responsibility of meeting deadlines added to the pressure placed upon the relatively inexperienced staff. Mr. Rosenhauer, faculty advisor for the WAHISCAN, and editor-in-chief Gerry Mathisen assisted in finding solutions to the problems which confronted this year's staff, one of which was the addition of the first fold-out page ever included in a WAHISCAN. After eight months of work, the last of the record 236 pages was sent to the printer, and the dual goal of publishing a yearbook which would be enjoyed by all its readers and would receive an All-American rating for the first time, had hopefully been reached.

Not only was the 1967 WAHISCAN the largest in the school's history, but an ever increasing enrollment also meant that more copies of the book were printed than ever before - a total of 2320. The WAHISCAN Business Staff, under the direction of Mr. Dzubay and business manager Judy Seidel, was given the job of raising many of the funds needed to publish the book. In order to complete this task, Business Staff members were required to sell ads to many business firms in the Wausau area. Their efforts helped to make the work of the editorial staff a reality in the final publication of the 1967 WAHISCAN.

WHS 66-67 Student

The students who gave of their time and effort to serve on the Student Council were the voice of the student body from which they were selected. Their most important task was to see that the ideas brought to them as well as their own ideas reached the Student Council where they could be considered and acted upon. Feeling that more student involvement was necessary in order to make the Council more effective, the 1966-67 Student Council attempted to raise the interest level of the student body.

In electing this year's second semester Council officers, a new election procedure was tried. The petition system, a proposal supported by the Student Council, made it possible for any student who wished to be a candidate to take out a petition and acquire the signatures necessary for the final declaration of candidacy. The system was introduced for the purposes of simplifying the election process, nominating and electing only those students who want to hold an office, increasing student participation in elections, and allowing the student body to know all the candidates better.

The Student Council again sponsored many all-school activities under the leadership of its six commissioners in the areas of pep, school affairs, social affairs, publicity, finance, and safety. The Commissioner of Safety was elected for the first time this year with the main duty of organizing the annual Safety Week held in the spring. The Council sponsored dances, the annual Red Cross Drive, and the annual fund raising candy sale, chose assembly programs, sent two delegates to the Bellamy Award Program in Colorado, gave 25% of the candy sale profits to the WHS choir to help pay for their trip to Concordia College, provided scholarships, remained as friend and parent to Ho Wing Sang, the 10 year old adopted child of the Council, rewrote and revised the old Student Council Constitution, and adopted a WHS crest representing activities within the school and community.

AFS Club Promoted World of Friendship

Felisa Lucido, American Field Service representative from the Philippines, proudly modeled the native dress of her country.

Since this was the first year that an AFS CLUB was in existence at Wausau Senior High, it was an interesting experience for the large number of members. Felisa Lucido, our exchange student from the Philippines and secretary of the club, was very helpful in leading club activities with the co-operation of Randy Hackbarth, president; Ed McEachron, vice-president; Carol Kischel, treasurer; and Mrs. Eikeland and Miss Cornwell, faculty advisors.

To acquaint high school students with the American Field Service program and its promotion of understanding between all nations was the purpose of the AFS Club. The sale of AFS Christmas cards earned money that was used to bring foreign students to the United States for a year as well as to sponsor American students abroad during a summer. Club members helped with the Wausau AFS Chapter's yearly "trash and treasure" sale while they were also busy contacting speakers, arranging movies, and planning parties all in the international spirit of the club.

The annual AFS Day held at Wausau Senior High was the major project of the American Field Service Club. Twenty-five exchange students from the central Wisconsin area were invited to spend Friday, February 24, in Wausau with high school students. The visitors attended classes with their individual Wausau hosts, were honored at a banquet in the evening, attended our last home basketball game of the season, and after the game, were special guests at the hop sponsored by the AFS Club. In the afternoon, a special international assembly program was held for the entire Wausau Senior High student body and each visiting exchange student sang, danced, or spoke in an effort to acquaint each of us with his or her native country and its customs. American Field Service Day certainly was a practical experience in world-wide friendship.

Resulted From Language Club Activities

To promote a better understanding of Spanish culture and life was the purpose of the Spanish Club. Each month that the club met there was a different program chairman who presented a movie, a speaker, a skit, or Spanish music. Special holidays, like "El Día de los Muertos" with cookies in the shape of skulls and Christmas with colorful pinatas, were enjoyed by all club members. Officers for the year were president, Cathy Eikeland; vice-president, Mike Pittsley; secretary, Carol Wurster; and treasurer, Carrie Baker.

The German Club gave students an opportunity to use what they learned in their German classes. Phil Mueller, president; Kim Walters, vice-president; and Sue Goetsch, secretary-treasurer, helped to guide the club. Outside speakers, films, parties, and slides helped to create interest in the German language and people for the club members.

French Club officers, Dave Johnston, president; Jane Boehmer, vice-president; Karen Pittsley, secretary; and Joe Duncanson, treasurer, helped to encourage an interest in French culture and customs among the club members. The Christmas party featuring "La Bûche Noël" and the singing of carols in French gave students an opportunity to enjoy French-centered activities.

The club advisors arranged the foreign language students' trip to the Milwaukee Holiday Folk Fair during the month of November. They were Miss Bonvincin, Spanish Club; Miss Cornwell, German Club; and Mrs. Scheurman, French Club.

LANGUAGE CLUB PRESIDENTS Language Club Presidents provoked interest in German, French and Spanish. They were Phil Mueller, Dave Johnston, and Cathy Eikeland.

Students Explored Future Occupations

Since practical experience is one of the best ways to become acquainted with a profession, many of the junior aides and Volunteers at the area hospitals were members of Wausau Senior High's FUTURE NURSES CLUB. This type of club activity not only brought together young people interested in nursing and health careers, but it also helped those students to grow as individuals. Nancy Belohlavek, president; Noreen Reavill, vice-president; Lynn Lambrecht, secretary-treasurer, and Carol Hahn, corresponding secretary, led the club in exploring the opportunities and requirements in various fields of medical work.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Becky Eikeland, Judy Seidel, Nancy Schlitz, Sandy Deutch, and Karen Nutting led the F.T.A. in developing interests in teaching.

To develop an already existing interest in the career of teaching and to become aware of the rewards of this profession were the goals of the FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA CLUB. Lectures by educators, discussions of the internship and practice teaching programs, visits from college representatives, and attendance at the State FTA Convention in April were some of the club's activities.

The FUTURE SECRETARIES OF AMERICA CLUB at Wausau Senior High was established as a branch of the FBLA group, so that young people interested in secretarial occupations could acquire specific knowledge about their business world. Tours of local business firms and talks by secretaries in the community helped to bring the problems and the advantages of secretarial work of the club.

During the year, FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA CLUB members operated our noon hour candy store. They sent delegates to State and National FBLA Conventions, raised money for scholarships for graduating club members, and worked at Johnson Hill's Department Store for a day at the end of National FBLA Week in February. Club activities centered around the ideas of creating interest in choosing business careers, of building the confidence of young people in themselves and their work, and of developing personality traits needed for employment.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA officers, Rudy Kluz, president; Gary Utech, vice-president; Bill Mueller, secretary; Mike Debroux, treasurer; Tony Skic, reporter, and Pete Monday, sentinel, helped the club to promote agricultural leadership and to develop good citizenship among farm youth. In the past year, club members participated in local, county, and state judging contests. They sold 1,100 pounds of cheese during National FFA Week and took a trip to Milwaukee to visit several Wisconsin Agricultural Industries.

FUTURE SECRETARIES OF AMERICA

The F.S.A. club, led by Kathy Johnson, Judy Damp, and Patty Bowen, acquired knowledge of the business world and developed work habits.

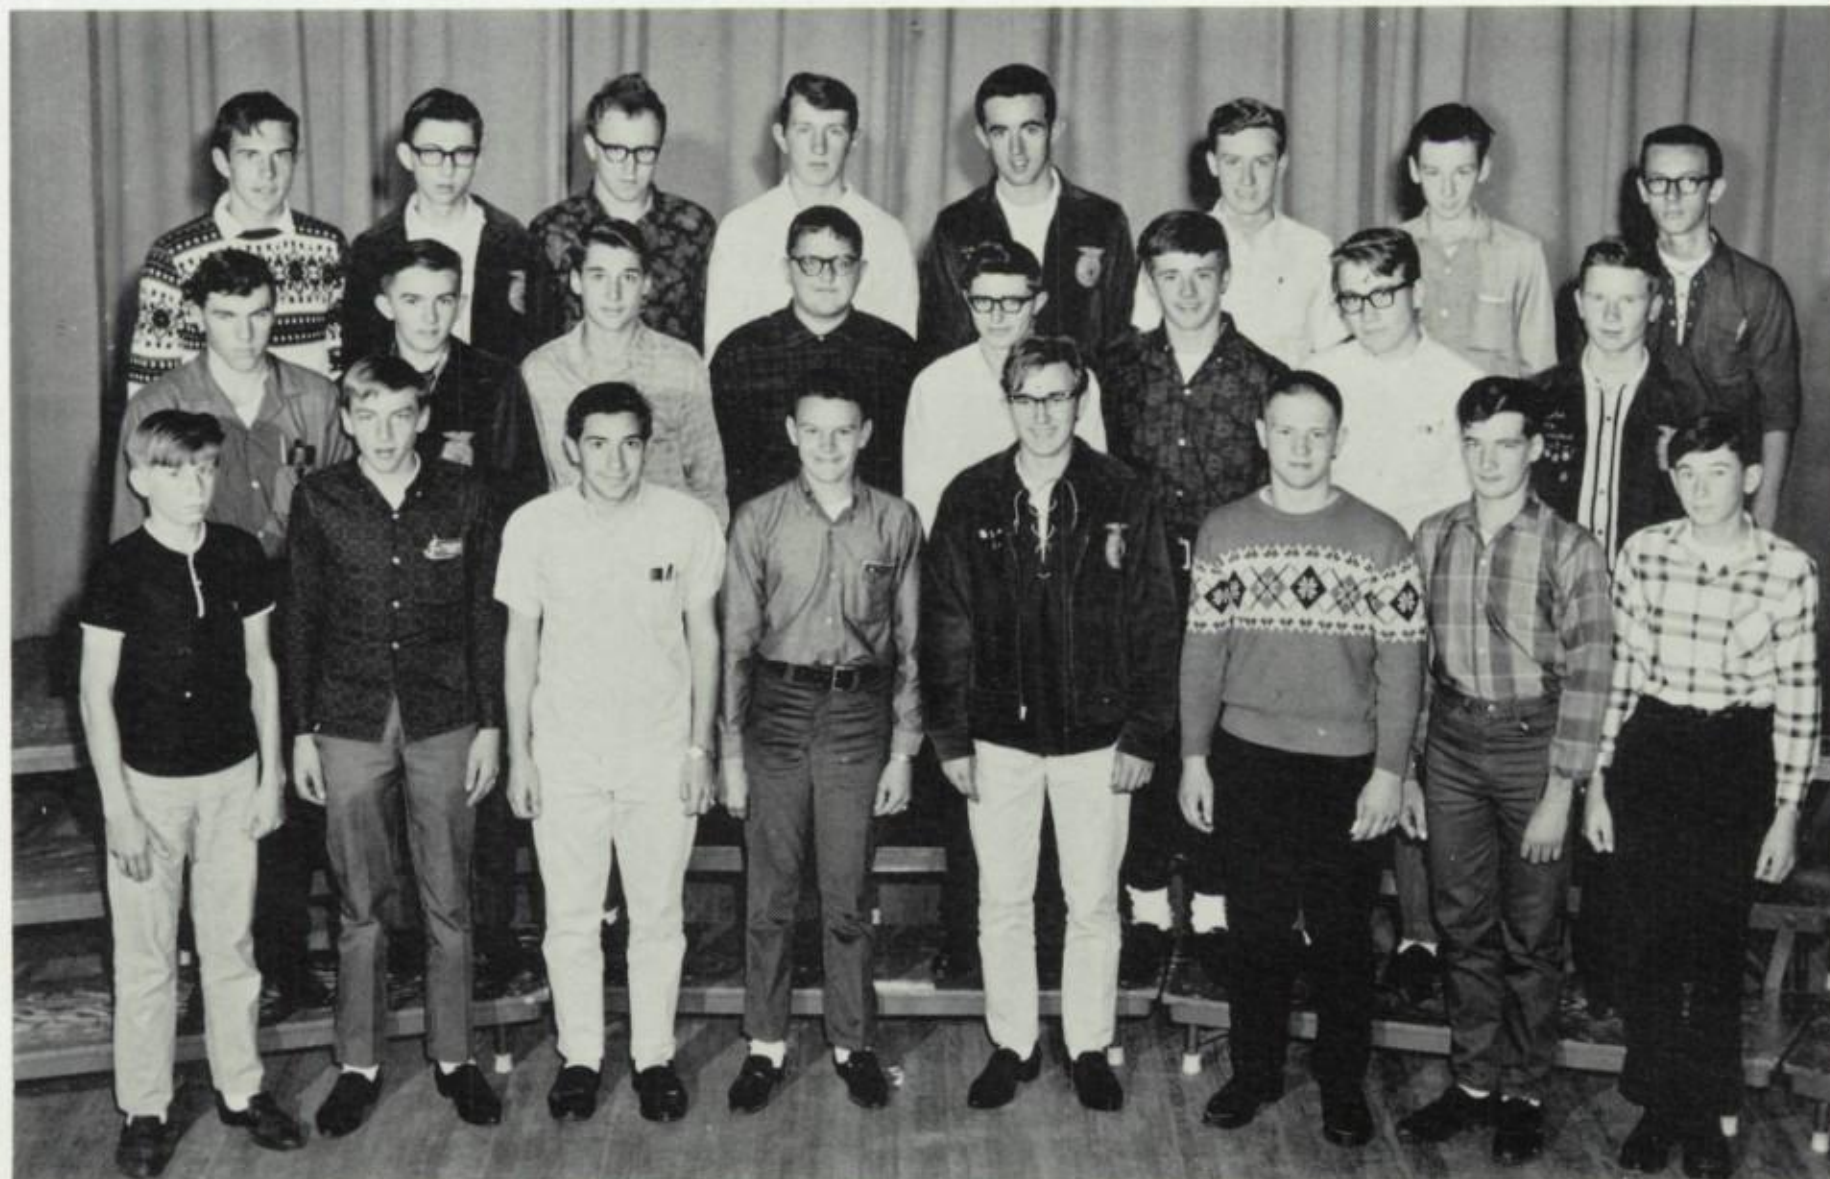

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

Le Ann Rusch, Marilyn Sturm, Jim Geiser, Mike Glenetzke, and Debbie Rasmussen led the F.B.L.A. in creating interest in business occupations.

Math and Science Clubs Prepared Youth

To enrich sophomores in the concepts of geometry and to prepare them for membership in the WHS Advanced Math Club or National Math Club as juniors or seniors, were the responsibilities under the leadership of BASIC MATH CLUB officers Karl Nelson, president, and Linda Schlitz, secretary, and the club advisor Mr. Luttrell. Club members learned how to use a slide rule for all types of math problems, studied the mathematical programming devices used in a portable table top computer, worked geometry problems taken from State Math Contest tests and Math Talent Search information, and viewed a Popular Science Audio-Visual film on the uses of truth tables in the field of finite math.

The National High School Mathematics Club, MU ALPHA THETA, was officially formed at WHS this year with the initiation of 17 charter members and new members from the ADVANCED MATH CLUB. All Advanced Math Club members were potential Mu Alpha Theta members. Officers for the National Math Club were president, Randy Hackbarth, and secretary-treasurer, Esther Weigand, while Advanced Math Club officers were president, James Smith, and secretary-treasurer, David Dyson. The Mu Alpha Theta initiation was the big event of the year for both clubs, but they also had guest speakers at their monthly meetings and sponsored the hop after the basketball game during Thanksgiving vacation.

for Technical Challenges of the Future

Field trips, demonstrations, slide and movie presentations, and guest speakers were a part of BIOLOGY CLUB meetings for the past year. These varied programs helped to provide interested students with opportunities to observe, study, and participate in biological activities beyond the regular biology course. Officers of the club were Becky Borth, president; Tom Achtenberg, vice-president, and Diane Borth, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Dix, a WHS biology teacher, was the faculty advisor of the club.

President, Pat Chrouser; vice-president, Tom Mason and secretary, Sandi Anklam, all helped CHEMISTRY CLUB members to promote understanding of chemistry and to interest other young people in chemistry careers. Club members gave demonstrations, Mr. Baum of the research division of American Can spoke to the club on chemical engineering, club members traveled to Madison to view the chemistry buildings on the University of Wisconsin campus, and the entire club worked on the annual Chemistry Club caramel apple sale.

STAGE CREW

Mike Redmond, Ronald Kankelfitz, Guy Gooding, Dave Hussong, Jack Parlier waited for orders from fellow stage crew member, Steve Lavake.

The project of the Camera Club was the production of a movie about the 2,250 students of Wausau Senior High. The cast was selected by chance as club members walked the halls of WHS for several months, armed with cameras and yards of film. Club meetings were used to discuss, film, develop, edit, and write the script for the club's movie. "Handling a Camera," a movie on photography techniques, helped Club members with their own movie project.

The Stage Crew, under the direction of Mr. Gjetson and president Tom Beese, provided valuable technical assistance for both school and community activities. The crew, composed of sophomore, junior and senior boys, had the responsibility of constructing stage settings, providing lighting effects, operating the P.A. and recording systems, handling the curtains and backdrops, and supervising scene changes. Among the events for which the Stage Crew assisted were the Senior Class and Spring Plays, the Christmas programs, the Tophatters show, the annual Stunt Night Program, the Civic Music Concerts, and the Community Theater productions. At their regular meetings, the Stage Crew discussed the various aspects of behind the scene technical direction. The boys also used several meetings as training sessions for sophomore crew members.

BOOK CLUB

To increase understanding and appreciation of literature, Book Club members discussed authors' accomplishments and explored various aspects of books. They were Chuck Strek, Monica Woodward, Cheryl Kohnhorst, Pam Treu, Marlene Wilde, Peggy Yelk, and Stephanie Estreen.

Although the Book Club was the smallest club organized at WHS, it was an active group, and officers, Charles Strek, president; Pamela Treu, vice-president, and Monica Woodward, secretary-treasurer, encouraged members to read a variety of books. During the monthly club meetings, recently published novels were presented and discussed. The club sponsored a popcorn sale during the noon hour and the annual WHS book fair. The fair theme this year was "Reading is What's Happening" and it gave all English classes an opportunity to examine and buy many types of literature.

Senior Seminar meetings were held once a month from November until April. This year members studied a wide range of literature. On the program throughout the year were "The Wasteland" by T. S. Eliot with Senior High's Mrs. Hodges as speaker, Rice's "The Adding Machine" with Mr. R. Quinn of the Extension as speaker, Dostoevsky's Crime and Punishment with Mr. F. Schumacher of Senior High as speaker, The Stranger by Camus with Senior High teacher Miss A. Ross as speaker, and a Poetry Collection by Robert Frost with Mr. Roger Mergendahl of the extension as speaker.

Officers of the FIRST WEDNESDAY ART CLUB, Mary Day, president; Jane Gallagher, vice-president, and Tom LaBelle, secretary-treasurer, and officers of the THIRD WEDNESDAY ART CLUB, Diane Borth, president; Gwen Holzem, vice-president, and Sue Beckman, secretary-treasurer, led art students in extra-curricular art activities. To build better understanding and background of painting, sculpture, and crafts by viewing exhibits, hearing speakers, and watching artistic demonstrations was the purpose of both clubs. During the year, club members purchased art books and objects for WHS, and exhibited their various types of art work.

While viewing amateur productions by fellow club members, DRAMA CLUB students were able to enjoy and appreciate dramatic art as a dynamic medium for creative expression of feelings and ideas. Throughout the year, drama club members assisted with technical and professional aspects of the two WHS dramatic presentations, "Dark of the Moon" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

To form a connecting link between home and school, to train young women to be active, efficient leaders in their homes and communities, and to furnish opportunities for social life and to prepare young women to meet its challenges were the MODERN MISS CLUB goals. Miss Wausau for 1966-67, Christine Beatty, was one of the guests who spoke to club members on the subject of improving personal appearance. Those elected to guide the club's activities were Gretchen Kasten, president; Ruth Marquis, vice-president; Karen Howard, secretary-treasurer, and Pam, Treu, reporter.

WHS Students Increased Sportsmanship

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Betsy Harper, Peggy Hessert, Carol Hahn, Barb Leffler, and Paulette Bensen kept the G.A.A. in shape with friendship through sports.

School Sports Received School Support

SKI CLUB OFFICERS

Jeff Evans, Tom Rounds, and Louise Eklund, officers of the ski club, steadied President, Jim Olsen as he prepared for his take-off.

PEP CLUB

Pep club officers strived to increase school enthusiasm. They were (standing) Rothman, and Arps (sitting) Streck, and Trembath.

The LETTERMEN'S CLUB was newly organized at WHS this year. Membership was open to all boys who had been awarded a major letter in sports. The club sponsored activities that promoted a better school and community relationship. Some of them were a "W" Club dance, Christmas baskets for needy families, a spring sports banquet, and the distribution of coin boxes to merchants for charity drives.

Girls' sports at WHS were conducted under the leadership of the GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION, the largest organization in school with 499 members. G.A.A. activities which provided competition in both individual and team sports included bowling, basketball, volleyball, table tennis, badminton, curling, golf, softball, swimming, archery and tennis.

Miss Bonvincin, the only woman ski team coach in the state, advised SKI CLUB members. Movies of ski areas and the WHS ski team were shown at club meetings and members worked at the Wausau Invitational Ski Meet at Rib Mountain.

The PEP CLUB helped to back our Jacks through all fall, winter, and spring sports. Club members sold pom poms and booster buttons, organized a glove section for basketball games, sponsored buses WHS sent to post season tournament games, sent cheerleaders to a clinic, helped to purchase blazers for our athletic teams, and gave a Pep Club scholarship to a graduating senior.

Mr. Smith, Electronics Club advisor, adjusted a tuning mechanism of a video tape recorder as members of his electronics class looked on.

Promoting an interest in electronics and providing new experiences for club members in the field of electronics were the main interests of the ELECTRONICS CLUB. Officers Dell Weaver, president; Dan Aldrich, vice-president; Dan Mesenberg, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Smith, advisor for the club, were responsible for planning field trips to local radio and television stations and for contacting technical speakers from local business and industrial firms.

Trips to near by colleges and universities with astronomy and planetarium facilities, views of the night sky, practice in handling a telescope, and talks by amateur astronomers of the Wausau area were some of the ASTRONOMY CLUB'S activities. Eric Fromm, president; Fred Schoenfeldt, vice-president; Gloria Jeske, secretary-treasurer, and the faculty advisor, Mr. Dzubay, all helped to encourage an interest in astronomy among Wausau Senior High students.

The PROJECTIONIST'S CLUB was dedicated to the preparing and showing of films, slides, and other photographic material to students of the high school. Skilled operators daily prepared and showed movies, kept all machines in good working condition, and prepared photo-fax materials for use with overhead projectors and other visual equipment. During the year the officers participated in a convention and field day in which they were instructed in new methods and equipment in the Audio-Visual department. This year's executive officers were David Hussong, president; Bruce Beneditz, vice-president; and John Bunning, secretary-treasurer.

Projectionists Dave Hussong, John Bunning, and Bruce Beneditz offered their time and skill to enable students to view movies.

Recognized by Honorary Organizations

BADGER BOYS AND GIRLS

Dave Dyson, Randy Hackbarth, Ed McEachron, Dorothy Diebel, Dave Johnston, and Eric Wendorff attended Badger Boys' and Girls' State.

Membership in the National Honor Society was one of the greatest distinctions that could be awarded to a WHS senior. Students who maintained at least a 3.25 grade average throughout high school, had shown outstanding character traits, and had exhibited leadership ability were initiated into the organization on January 15, 1967. Each new member received a gold NHS pin and a certificate of recognition. After the program, a tea for NHS students and their parents was held in the WHS cafeteria.

Students who possessed outstanding abilities in the field of journalism were honored by membership in the international society, Quill and Scroll. Admission into the organization was based on academic standing, superior achievement on a school publication, recommendation by the local advisor, and approval of the Society's Executive Secretary. All members received an honorary Quill and Scroll pin and the Society's national magazine.

Each month of the past school year, four different WHS boys attended the weekly Rotary Club meetings. They were given a look at what the Rotary Club ideals of service and fellowship have done and are doing for Wausau. The various programs at the meetings ranged from a concert by Tophatters to a political speech by Mel Laird.

Badger Boys' State and Badger Girls' State proved to be an exciting and busy experience for six WHS students. They spent a hectic week of their summer vacation attending lectures, party caucuses, political forums, and local, county, and state meetings. The students were assigned to either the Federalist Party or the Nationalist Party, and then campaigning got underway. These practical experiences gave the students a first hand view of our state government.

Versatile Musicians Shared Talents In

Musical expression was the result of diligent practice, intense concentration, professional technique, and a desire to excel.

The Wausau Senior High School Orchestra, directed by Mr. David Riege, presented a variety of concerts which were both educational and entertaining. Two childrens' concerts at elementary schools, assembly programs at the senior high and the junior high schools, and three PTA concerts were held in addition to the mid-winter and spring concerts. The year's programs were concluded with the commencement concert and the annual "Pop-Concert-on-the-Lawn."

The orchestra, which has a membership of sixty musicians, also specialized in solo and ensemble performances. Two smaller groups, the Dinner-Music Ensemble and the Chamber Orchestra, offered music service to various community groups. Advanced technical ability enabled the members to study a great variety of music, including a Schubert symphony, Mozart overtures, and other works by composers such as Bizet, Tschaikovsky, Gould, Vivaldi, Corelli, and Washburn.

The Wausau Senior High Orchestra had a very new look this year. The boys appeared in white dinner jackets, black pants and ties, while the girls wore long black skirts and black sleeveless shells.

Band Created An Atmosphere Of Music

PEP BAND The pep band added enthusiasm as it performed for the student body at assemblies and basketball games.

The Band at Wausau Senior High, under the direction of Mr. Ronald Evenstad, had three major roles. The MARCHING BAND, with the help of the eight majorettes, presented half-time programs for all home football games, the PEP BAND under the supervision of drum major John Dzubay played at all home basketball games, and the SYMPHONIC BAND performed for three assembly programs in addition to numerous public concerts.

At the Spring Music Festival the Band was awarded top class "A" ratings. In addition to working as a group, the band members performed at the District and State Solo and Ensemble Contests. Prepared selections by Mendelssohn, Ravel, Berlioz, Shostakovich, Morton Gould, Dvorak, and Wagner were presented. By giving up study halls and practicing afternoons and evenings, each music student worked to improve tone, technique, and expression to make his or her solo an award winner.

Toward the end of the year, when the student directing course had been completed, the best qualified student directors were featured in a special concert. Many music students also presented solos and ensembles at church, civic, and extra-curricular school affairs. The year's programs were concluded with a Memorial Day Concert on the Court House lawn following the band's participation in the annual Memorial Day Parade.

Orchestra And Music Club Activities

MODERN MUSIC MASTERS Officers of Modern Music Masters displaying their musical ability were Tom Evjue, Bob Behm, Sandi Anklam, Carol Hahn, and Joanne Loiz.

To foster a greater and continued interest in solo, ensemble, band, orchestra, and choral performances — to encourage better and more discriminating habits in listening to and in the performance of musical literature — and to provide more frequent opportunities for personal musical expression were the purposes of the Tri-M. The Modern Music Masters was an honorary organization for musicians, and the members were selected on the basis of scholarship, character, cooperation, leadership, and service. During November, parents and friends were invited to the formal initiation program for new members.

The sounds of Beethoven, Rossini, and Bach were an important part of the Music Club meetings. By listening to various types of records and discussing the construction of scales, the beginnings of harmony, and musical history, the club members were able to develop their senses of music appreciation. The club officers Gary Brandenburg, president; Gary Peterson, vice-president; and Karen Hahn, secretary-treasurer, were instrumental in program planning for club meetings, and they discovered that performances by music students were very interesting as well as educational.

Should our foreign aid program be limited to non-military assistance? This was the question that the varsity debaters analyzed throughout the season. Beginning with a discussion tournament in October and concluding with the state finals at the end of February, each member gained knowledge concerning the foreign aid policy of the United States. In between that time the squad, composed of selected seniors and juniors, traveled to Ripon, Milwaukee, La Crosse, Neenah, Stevens Point, Merrill, and Rhinelander for other tournaments. In the official forensic association competition, the debaters qualified for the state finals after placing first or second in district and sectional tournaments. They captured an undisputed second, winning six out of eight debates in the championship rounds in Madison.

Forensics gave each student a chance to improve his speaking ability and compete with other students. Six coaches — Mr. Marquardt, Miss Hoard, Mrs. Ohland, Mrs. McElrath, Mr. Madison, and Miss Miller — supervised a variety of activities. They included public address, extemporaneous speaking, play-acting, interpretive reading of prose and poetry, significant speeches, declamation, and original oratory. Because of the large number that signed up for these areas, a home speech contest was held first. Two winners and an alternate were chosen from the participants. They then traveled to Rhinelander for the sub-district contest, and to Stevens Point for district competition. All A winners from these two regions participated in the state tournament in Madison.

Members of the Wausau Senior High Concert Choir were selected by vocal try-outs in order to obtain the best possible balance of voices. Along with daily rehearsals, each choir student had a scheduled sectional one hour a week when individual choral parts were studied. Every choir member participated in Spring Music Competition by preparing a solo or singing in an ensemble. A Chamber Ensemble made up of choir members sang for several community events and soloists sang for various special programs. The entire choir presented Christmas Concerts at the First American National Bank, the Kiwanis Club, Wausau Senior High, and for the general public. They sang at a program for the Rotary Club and gave a Spring Concert for the Wausau Senior High student body. The choir also participated in an invitational Choral Clinic with the Stevens Point High School Concert Choir in the Wausau Senior High Auditorium. The choir's repertoire included selections ranging from 16th century motifs to Negro spirituals and folk songs.

The big event of the year for choir members was their trip to Concordia College in Moorhead, Minnesota. Our choir was one of twelve choirs selected to participate in the High School Choir Day Festival which was under the leadership of Paul J. Christiansen, head of Concordia's music department and one of the foremost choral directors in the nation. While on their trip, the choir presented assembly programs at several Minnesota high schools and attended a choral clinic at Brainard, Minn.

SKYROCKET EDITORS Preparing for a busy year were the head editors: Keese, Diebel, Harper, Rosen.

Publishing the SKYROCKET every two weeks during the year involved much hard work. Most of the actual responsibility for the newspaper was in the hands of co-editors Dorothy Diebel and Elizabeth Harper. They had to make sure that the paper was furnished with thought-provoking editorials while they also kept their large staff functioning smoothly.

Assistant editor Robbin Rosen was in charge of the assignments for the fifty-four reporters, while Margo Keese, managing editor, arranged for all of the SKYROCKET pictures. Lynn Domres, news editor; Gretchen Freund, feature editor; Jan Shannon, music editor; Mary Kirk, exchange editor; Jane Cunningham, girls' sports editor; and Bruce Jehn, boys' sports editor. All managed to keep the typewriter keys in 208 very busy.

Once the assignments were in, Sue Rubow, make-up editor, and the copy editors Grace Reinke and Suzanne Perner got ready to meet the printer's deadline. When the paper had been put together, printed, and folded, distribution was under the supervision of Chris Guenther. Faculty advisor for the SKYROCKET was Mrs. Ethel B. Scheurman.

No newspaper can function without advertising, and the SKYROCKET was no exception. The twenty members of the business staff, headed by Carol Kischel, had to become experts at giving convincing sales pitches accompanied by glowing smiles if the paper was to have sufficient advertising. Mr. Joseph Zahringer was the business staff faculty advisor.

CONSERVATION CLUB OFFICERS

Dave Anderson, Tom Ohrmundt, and Warren Aschbrenner, officers of the Conservation Club, promoted interest in conservation through various activities.

The CONSERVATION CLUB provided an area of learning for boys interested in the field of conservation. Club meetings were devoted to educational films and speakers on the various conservation topics. The club members thinned and pruned pine plantations, aided in the construction of buildings for the Wausau schools Outdoor Education program, and planted trees and shrubs at the WHS forest.

The JUNIOR DAIRYMEN'S ASSOCIATION at WHS interested boys, through extemporaneous speaking contests, dairy cattle judging, and in showing livestock. Eugene Heckendorf, president; Randy Kluz, vice-president; Tony Skic, secretary-treasurer; and Pete Monday, custodian, directed club activities.

In Wausau, the NEIGHBORHOOD YOUTH CORPS was identified by the title "Program of Work-Education Relationships". It was developed by the Wausau School System to meet the needs of disadvantaged young people living in the community. The organization offered students between the ages of 16 and 22 a chance to complete their education, to acquire good work habits, to receive intensive guidance and counseling, and to obtain a degree of economic competency.

Competitive activities at state and national leadership conferences helped DECA CLUB members to expand their leadership abilities, to accept responsibility, and to develop a cooperative spirit. Officers for the year were Floyd Nobler, president; Penny Rudell, vice-president; Cheryl Hoeft, secretary; Donald Schreiber, treasurer; Scott Casanova, parliamentarian, and Mike Mathie, sergeant-at-arms.

SPORTS

Whether yelling WAUSAU HIGH'S GOT IT at the state basketball tournament in Madison or during a baseball game at home, WHS students cheered the Lumberjacks on to victory. In football we were rated sixth in the state, were first in the Big Rivers Conference, and Coach Brockmeyer was named Wisconsin's "Coach of the Year." Our Tom Schroeder rink placed first in the state curling finals. In basketball our Jacks fought their way to the state tournament and finished second, losing to Milwaukee Lincoln by only five points.

Jacks Clinched BRC

Wausau was destined to begin its 1966 football season with an extensive rebuilding job after the loss of the entire 1965 offensive unit. The defense, however, had the following experienced players returning from last year: Bob Doede, Jim Loos, Dan Yunk, Chris Evans, Jerry Cox, Gary Seehafer, Dennis Rothmeyer, and Dwaine Neubauer. These two units, after weeks of practice, combined in an effort that led Wausau to an undisputed Big Rivers championship and a Number 6 Associated Press state rating. Members of this championship team received high state honors. Gary Seehafer, Jack DeHaven, and Bob Doede were chosen for positions on the All-State team, while All-Conference honors went to DeHaven, Loos, Rick Cox, Yunk, Seehafer, Evans, and Doede.

Wausau opened its 1966 football season by entertaining Stevens Point at Thom Field. The Jacks defeated the Panthers by a score of 35 to 7.

Wisconsin Valley history was made as Wisconsin Rapids defeated Wausau for the first time in thirty years. Wausau came out on the short end of the score that drizzly night, when Rapids posted a 20 to 14 win.

A Lumberjack running back was finally dragged down by a La Crosse defensive back after a long gain on an end sweep.

Denny Treptow, No. 32, captured the football for Wausau when he intercepted a pass and carried it back for extra yardage.

to his impressive record with this official confirmation of another touchdown scored by him in the game against Chippewa Falls.

Wausau evened out its record at one win, one loss, and one tie during its game with Marinette. Wausau came off the field with a 6 to 6 tie against the Marines.

After Wausau guard Jim Loos recovered a Memorial fumble near the end of the game, the Jacks posted a 7-0 win over the Eau Claire eleven. This win over a long time powerhouse allowed Wausau to keep a perfect conference record of two wins and no losses. Wausau then turned to meet Chippewa Falls in a game that Wausau captured, 27 to 6.

Wausau's gridiron entertained LaCrosse Central for the Lumberjacks Homecoming and posted a 48 to 7 win over the Red Raiders.

Wausau's Jacks won their second shutout of the season when they defeated the LaCrosse Logan Rangers, 26 to 0. The team then turned to increasing their total points gained by defeating the Menomonie eleven, 53 to 13.

Wausau concluded the 1966 football season by defeating Eau Claire North by the score of 58 to 6. It was this final effort that caused Wausau to capture the BRC scoring crown, second best defense, and an undisputed first place in the Big Rivers Conference. The Jacks finished with an overall record of seven wins, one loss, and one tie, capturing for them a Number 6 AP state rating.

Brock Tops 200 Wins

On October 14 at LaCrosse Logan, despite a muddy field, the Wausau High Lumberjacks defeated the Rangers 26-0. Coach Brockmeyer reached a milestone with this victory by capturing his 200th win as Wausau football coach. With the end of the 1966 season, Brock's 30 year record with Wausau stands at 202 wins, 28 losses, and 8 ties. That's averaging less than a loss a year and makes Coach Brockmeyer's high school coaching record one of the best in the nation.

Brock came to Senior High in 1937 after six years of coaching in his home state of Minnesota. Brock immediately established the Jacks as one of the strongest football teams in Wisconsin, compiling a 6-1 record in his first season.

Wausau's first undefeated season under Coach Brockmeyer came in 1940. This launched a win streak that covered seven seasons and totaled 46 straight games. Brock has never had a football team finish the season below the 500 mark.

Since coming to Wausau, Brock has directed the Lumberjacks to 23 conference championships including the Big Rivers Championship this past season.

For his effort this season in directing the Jacks to an overall 7-1-1 record and a sixth place rating in the state, Coach Brockmeyer was named the 1966 Wisconsin Scholastic Coach of the Year.

Wausau JV Team Completed A 6-1 Season

The 1966 Wausau High Junior Varsity football squad compiled a record of six wins and only one defeat. This defeat came in the remaining minutes of a hard fought battle in the last game of the season with the Edgar varsity. In overall statistics the JV's outscored their opponents by more than a three to one ratio.

Coached by Mr. Damgaard, the team consisted chiefly of sophomores. This was Mr. Damgaard's first year of teaching and coaching, and his fresh outlook added new spirit to the team. His guidance developed many prospects for the 1967 varsity season.

Sophomore Keith Christianson carried the ball for another Wausau gain in a game that found WHS defeating LaCrosse Central 47-7.

Coach Bill Smiley's Cross Country Squad

Inexperience highlighted the 1966 Cross Country season. Although a large group of 46 runners reported to Coach Smiley, only four of the boys had run in competition the year before. However, led by a pair of talented seniors, co-captains Eric Wendorff and Bernie Schmidt, and a fine junior, Bob Kretlow, Wausau managed to defeat 35 teams, losing to 18 and tying two, in winning two of ten meets. Other newcomers, seniors Dennis Kettunen and Paul Csencsics and sophomore Skip Kent also played a major part in a season's record that included a second place finish in the first Big Rivers Conference Cross Country Run. For the third straight year Wausau failed to qualify for the state finals. The junior varsity was very much improved over a year ago and should produce some fine runners for the varsity next year.

Prospects for next year's varsity team include the following boys, who will be reporting to Mr. Smiley for practice before the beginning of the next school year: Bob Kretlow, Greg Gordon, Skip Kent, Mike McElrath, Lowell Jaeger, Roland Feck, and Fred Eric Frey.

A determined effort is evident as Bernie Schmidt makes his final push in crossing the finish line in one of WHS's cross country meets. This event was run at the Wausau Sectionals. Wausau placed 6th.

Dennis Kettenun and other members of the Cross Country team, took part in the sectional meet as a season's hard work resulted in determined effort by each. This concluded a series of exciting 1966 meets in which Wausau team members represented their school.

Undisputed BRC Basketball Title

The Wausau Senior High basketball team completed the 1966-67 season having set numerous precedents. The Lumberjacks finished conference play with an overall record of 11-1. This allowed the Jacks to capture undisputed possession of first place since the conference was conceived; terminating the twelve year dynasty of rival Eau Claire Memorial. On the way to the crown, the team set a new conference offensive scoring record, defeating La Crosse Central 105-74. Other records attained by the Jacks were most field goals in one game, 47; for an entire season, 398; and the largest point spread by having defeated Chippewa, 97-41. Wausau was 16-2 overall, effacing the old record. The Jacks also set a record for the most points in a season, 1,447, and for the highest offensive average, 80.4 points a game.

Ken Roeder paced the Lumberjacks with an average of 21 points per game and 252 for the season, earning him the second place scoring honors in the BRC, behind North's DeCremer with 414. Wausau's four other starters finished among the top 25 scorers. Larry Edwards was 9th with 172 points, followed by Steve Anderson in 11th with 158, Pat Reed in 17th with 136, and Frank Schade with 108.

Ken Roeder, senior center and the only returning letterman from the previous season, was named to the UPI All-State 2nd team, AP All-State 3rd team, UPI and AP All-State Tournament teams, BRC 1st team, and also a Channel Seven All Star. Larry Edwards, a guard, was selected UPI and AP All-State Honorable Mention, BRC 2nd team, and a Channel 7 All Star. Steve Anderson, a forward, received honorable mention in the BRC, and forward Pat Reed attained honorable mention in the BRC and the UPI All-State selections.

Junior guard Frank Schade goes high in the air for a shot as the Wausau team continued to win in post-season tournament play.

The Jacks' pressure sent Chris Evans and his man sprawling to the floor in an early season Wausau-Milwaukee Lincoln game.

Half-time was not only a time for relaxation for the Jacks, but also a time for frank discussion of game strategy with Coach Anderson.

Inexperienced Jacks Became Champions

Pat Reed appeared to run into a little difficulty as he snared a rebound amid a mass of arms, legs, and opposing players.

Junior Jacks Completed 14-4 Season

This year's junior varsity basketball team established a season record of 14 wins and 4 losses. The losses came at the hands of Neenah, Wisconsin Rapids in overtime, and Eau Claire Memorial twice. They defeated such strong teams as Milwaukee Lincoln, La Crosse Central and Wisconsin Rapids in a return match. The high point of the season was a game with Menomonie when the Jayvees equalled the gym one-game scoring record of 105 points. In their next game they nearly broke the century mark again as they beat Eau Claire North 99-69.

The Jayvees played the same style of ball as the varsity. They used a full-court press every game and a man-to-man defense to hold their opponent's average to 55.3 points a game. On offense they combined quick ball handling and a 42.1% field goal percentage to average 76.1 points per game. Although this year's team was not tall, they usually held an edge on rebounds, grabbing an average of 39 per game.

The team was led by guards Dennis Treptow and John Luebbe who averaged 11.3 and 14.3 points respectively. Dave Jaeger was the leading rebounder grabbing 122 for the season. Sophomores Jerry Bird and Leon Rusch contributed fine play in the latter part of the season. Rusch averaged 11.9 points and Bird hit 10.3 per game. All told, six Junior varsity players scored over 100 points during the season.

The Junior varsity team plays an important part in the development of fine varsity teams at Wausau, and Coach Dix and his assistants work hard to attain his end. Also an important part, the man behind the scenes. Rick Katz was the manager for the Junior varsity basketball team this year.

Dave Jaeger scored two points for the Junior Jacks on this one-handed jump shot despite the efforts of an Old Abe defender.

Leon Rusch and John Pieper positioned themselves to grab the ball as an unidentified Wausau player strained for the tip.

Wrestlers Won First Regional in History

Clarence Felch, wrestling squad captain, puts together a pinning combination against his opponent in an invitational wrestling meet.

The Wausau High School wrestlers, coached by Ross Gettrust, established a wrestling precedent when the team won its First Regional Tournament in the school's history. In addition to winning this Merrill Regional, the wrestlers captured a championship trophy in the Ladysmith Invitational Tournament. This was the first trophy ever won by a squad of Wausau wrestlers.

The team was paced by several wrestlers, which enabled the team to make up for a lack of overall balance. In the Ladysmith Tournament, first places were taken by Dan Yunk and Clarence Felch. At Merrill Invitational Felch and Bob Quaderer took first places. In the Conference Tournament Quaderer won his second straight conference championship.

A team effort was witnessed in the Regional Tournament with nine boys scoring points. Taking first place honors for Wausau were Felch, Quaderer, Dennis Rodewald, and Tim Bartelt. Steve Jensen placed second.

Wausau's squad placed seventh out of a field of thirty-nine teams at the Schofield Sectional. It was here that Clarence Felch took his second sectional championship, becoming Wausau's only qualifier for the state meet.

With a record of twenty-one wins and one loss, Clarence Felch was voted the team's most valuable wrestler for the third straight season.

The rink composed of Tom Schroeder, Grant Casanova, Tom Gargas, and Tom Kamrath captured the state title at the Poynette bonspiel.

The Wausau Senior High curling team, under the coaching of Mr. Tim Hirsch, completed one of its most productive seasons in recent school history, ending the season with a record of 24-4. The curlers won the Wausau Invitational Bonspiel, the third Lumberjack team to win this honor in the event's fifteen year history. The Jacks also captured the Madison Invitational Championship.

The Jacks curling team qualified for the state meet by defeating Stevens Point 8-6, Two Rivers 12-1, and Waupaca by the score of 6-5. Having qualified, Wausau entered the Wisconsin High School Curling Championship held in Portage. In the regulation playdown Wausau defeated Poynette 6-5, lost to Madison West 5-8, and then went on to defeat Gale-Ettrick 12-2. Wausau, Poynette, and Madison all ended regulation play with 2-1 records. Wausau drew a bye in the playoffs so they sat out the first contest. Poynette defeated Madison and then Wausau beat Poynette 11-0 in the championship game. The team consisted of Tom Schroeder, skip; Grant Casanova, 3rd; Tom Gargas, 2nd; and Tom Kamrath, lead.

Tom Schroeder prepared to deliver a stone on a sheet at the curling barns. Tom was skip of the championship bonspiel team.

Swimmers Shot Old Records Down Drain

The Wausau Swimming team opened its season against Rhinelander and Stevens Point. Wausau ended up second to the Hodags with the scores being 94 to 40½ to 28½. The Jacks began their home season with a 60-28 win over Stevens Point. This meet saw Bill Keskey set a new school record of 1:13.4 in the 100 yard breaststroke. The Lumberjack swimming team then posted their second win by defeating Eau Claire North 62-33. The squad took first place honors in seven of the ten events.

The swimming team lost their first dual meet by succumbing to Eau Claire Memorial by the score of 57-38. In this encounter the team managed four firsts, seven seconds, and three third places out of eleven events.

The loss to Rhinelander 64-30 seemed balanced by the setting of four records. Mike Hanig, Bill Keskey, Wayne Becker, and Alan Zinsmeister broke the old record of 1:57.3 in the 200 yard medley with a time of 1:56.3. Howie Lewis upset his old time in the 100 yard butterfly by winning in 1:05.1. Mike Hanig set another mark by doing the 100 yard backstroke in a time of 1:08.1, effacing the old time of 1:08.9. Bill Keskey also broke his own record of 1:13.4 in the 100 yard breaststroke, coming in with a clocking of 1:09.6. The team then recorded six firsts in eleven events and added three seconds to beat Stevens Point 59-29.

The squad set two new records in defeating Eau Claire Memorial 57-38, the complete turnabout of the score in their first encounter. Mike Hanig, Bill Keskey, Wayne Becker, and Paul Csencsics of the 200 yard relay team turned in a time of 1:55.7. The second record was set by the 400 yard free style team of Joel Paulson, Howie Lewis, Tim Farrell and Ben Kowalski, who knocked better than six seconds off the old time of 4:06.5.

The swimmers concluded regular season competition by finishing fifth in the Lawrence University High School Invitational Swim Meet. The Jacks failed to qualify anyone for state at sectionals, but three new school records were set in the attempt. New records were established by Ben Kowalski in the 5 yard free style in a time of 24.7; the 200 yard medley relay team in 1:54.3; and Mike Hanig in the 10 yard backstroke with a clocking of 1:06.1. Mr. Hoffman coached the squad.

The Wausau Senior High Ski team opened its 1966-1967 season with no returning lettermen from last year's squad. However, after several weeks of practice the team entered the La Crosse Invitational and placed third. They were led by Myers in the giant slalom, and Schuetz and Everest in the downhill. Then, led by Schuetz in the downhill and Everest in the giant slalom, the Jacks placed third in the BRC meet. An overall team effort gave the Jacks a second in the St. Croix Falls Invitational and again a first in the Sturgeon Bay Invitational. The Jacks then hosted the Wausau Invitational, placing first. The state meet at St. Croix Falls completed the season as Wausau placed ninth out of eighteen teams. Seven members of the team dominated the scoring for the Jacks. They were Clark Everest, David Johnston, Mike Myers, David Schuetz, Pete Eldredge, Landon Mallery and David Stueber.

Tracksters Had Strong Indoor Season

Greg Werth eyed the finish line as he vaulted his final hurdle and continued on to capture a first against Antigo.

The Wausau Senior High track team began its 1967 season with 12 lettermen returning. Last year's team began with a mediocre indoor season, but developed into a strong unit as the season progressed finishing first or second in all regular season outdoor competition. Among this year's lettermen were three athletes who qualified for the 1966 WIAA Class A State Meet. They were senior Jack DeHaven in the shot put, junior Jerry Winter in the 440, and junior Dave Jaeger in the mile relay team. Other returning lettermen were seniors Dave Cigan in the pole vault, John Dzubay in the high hurdles, Larry Edwards in the long jump, Dick Nelson and Jim Olsen in the sprints, Bernie Schmidt in the 880 yard run, Eric Wendorff in the mile, and juniors Greg Werth in the high hurdles, and Dennis Treptow in the sprints.

The Jack track team completed a successful season indoors by finishing 1st or 2nd in all track meets up to the Madison West Relays. At the West Relays the Jacks scored four points to improve on last year's total. The track team began the outdoor season by coming in first in its initial two contests, triangular meets at Stevens Point and Wausau. Also contributing a major part to this year's team scoring for coaches Smiley and Dix were juniors Perry Oleson in the high jump, Rick Cox in the sprints, Dave Haller in the mile relay, and Bob Kretlow in the mile. Sophomores were Dave Gabriiska in the shot put, Skip Kent in the 880, Jesse Hoag and Bob Kamke in the mile relay, and Steve Thorne in the pole vault.

Strain was evident in Kelly Peterson's face as he fought to gain extra inches in the long jump during an early meet.

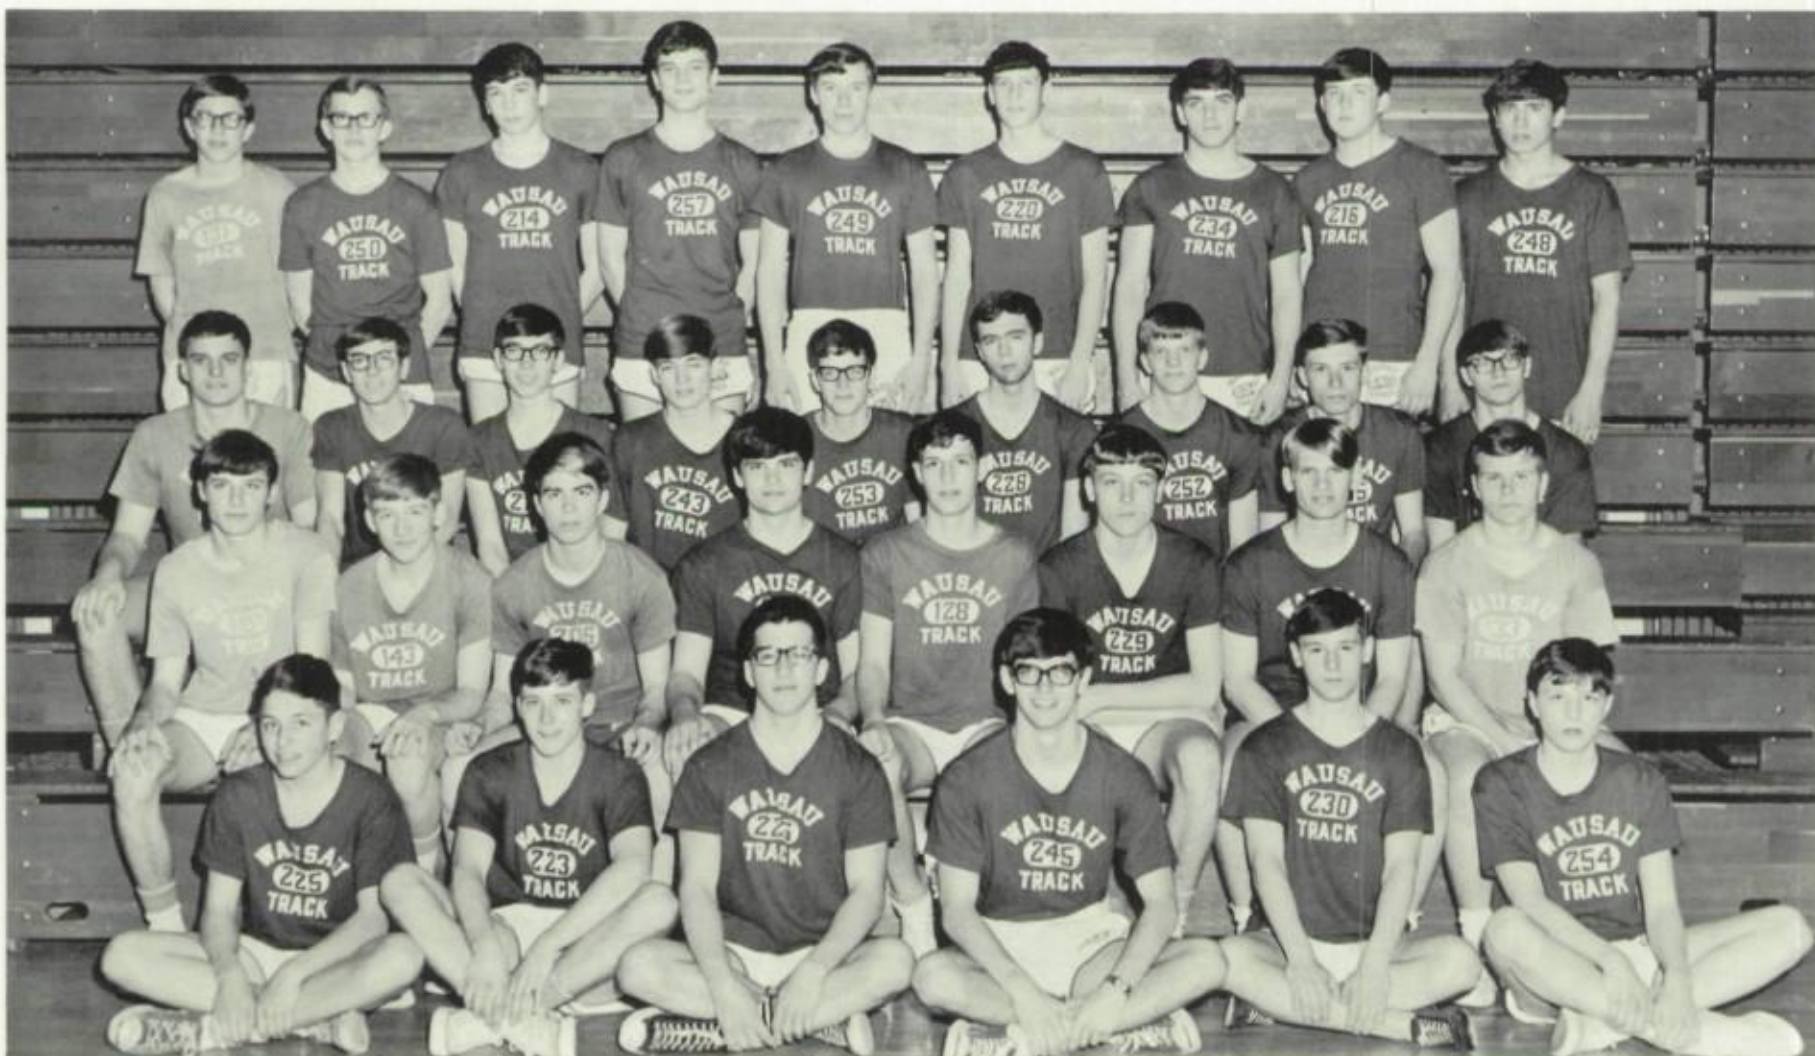

Steve Thorne kicked high as he easily vaulted over the bar to gain some points for WHS in the Antigo meet.

Mr. Keeler Concluded Fruitful Career

In June of this school year Mr. Ed Keeler will bring to a close a long and fruitful career, both for the school and for those students fortunate enough to have been under his instruction. He first came to Wausau in 1927, and began teaching at what is the present Horace Mann Junior High. In those days he taught math, business arithmetic, penmanship, and work study. In 1932, when a position in Advanced Math was open, Mr. Keeler moved up to Senior High. Because of his playful bantering on the quality of marching of the school band, Mr. Grill, the bandmaster then, saw to it that Mr. Keeler was made drill master of the group, a position he thoroughly enjoyed.

In May of 1941, Mr. Keeler entered into the service of his country, attaining the rank of Colonel in the Armored Infantry. After being wounded in France in May of 1944, he spent 14 months in the hospital recovering, still carrying a piece of enemy shrapnel in his shoulder. On his release, he strongly contemplated not returning to teaching, but did so at the request of Mr. Bannerman, who was in desperate need of a qualified person to become instructor in Driver's Education.

This year Mr. Keeler completed his twentieth year of teaching. Mr. Keeler has long been involved with the ticket sales at our schools, and has been in charge of this duty for the past three years. In this position he has used his own personal time to draw seating charts that we all use for Thom Field, the gymnasium, and the auditorium. Also in his spare moments Mr. Keeler fabricated all the ticket containers used at the various ticket offices, and as a hobby repaired all the combination locks and lockers.

Mr. Keeler has also served as chairman of Badger Boy's here in Wausau and as quarter master at Ripon for the past twenty years, along with being on the Board of Directors for Badger Boy's State fifteen years.

As he leaves Senior High, we want to say "Thanks, Mr. Keeler, and may you enjoy many happy days in a long retirement."

Being ticket manager for the past three years has kept Mr. Keeler involved in Wausau Senior High School extra-curricular activities.

Netters Were Strong in All Departments

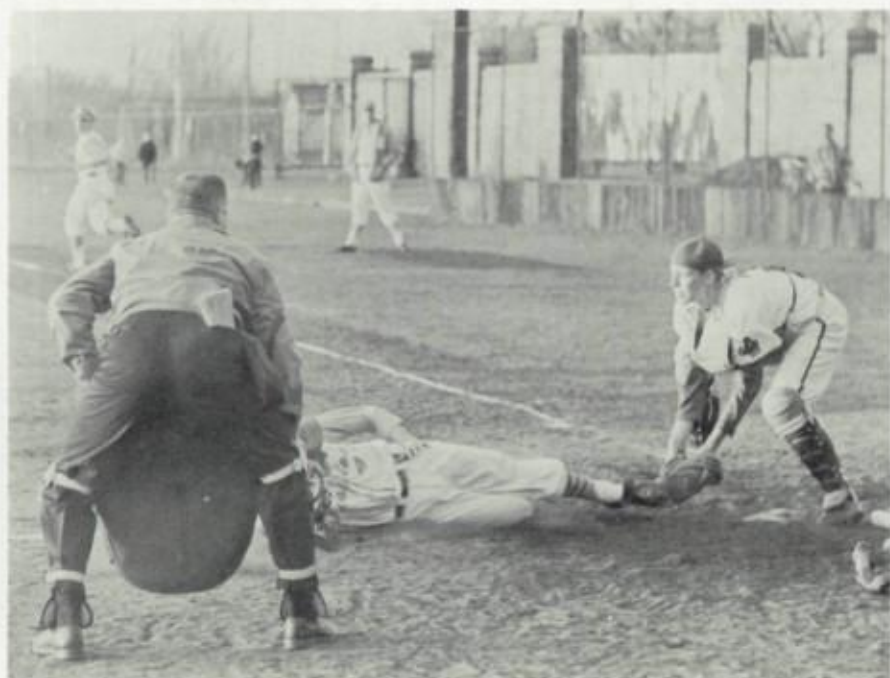

The Wausau Senior High School tennis team was headed by a nucleus of four returning lettermen from the 1966 team. These lettermen were seniors Pat Reed and Dave Johnston and juniors Jim Smith and Thomas Larson. The Jack netters, under the watchful eye of Coach Lowell Johnson, have dominated the Big Rivers Conference and have captured every conference meet since the league was originated in 1956. Last year the Jacks tied Rhinelander for the sectional championship and then moved on to place 6th at state.

Pat Reed and Jim Smith worked hard in practice as they combined their talents to form Wausau's number one doubles team.

Junior Jim Smith won the BRC singles title last season by defeating fellow Wausau teammate Pat Reed in the finals. Smith then paired up with Reed to win the WIAA sectional doubles championship. This twosome then went on to reach the quarter-finals of the State Meet. Senior Dave Johnston teamed with last year's captain, Robbie Brodhead, to win the BRC doubles title last season. Other members on the squad were Larson, 6th man last year; Jeff Evans, 7th man last year; Jack Ziebell, and Jay Beilke.

Jay Beilke watched as double partner Tom Larson delivered a smashing return before actual tennis competition got under way.

Lumberjack catcher Tom Gustafson applied the tag to a desperate Eau Claire North runner to end a late-inning scoring threat.

Coach Torresani's baseball team began its season two weeks before spring vacation by working out daily in the old girl's gym. Practice continued for the Jacks until they opened with a game against P. J. Jacobs of Stevens Point. The Lumberjacks had five returning lettermen from the 1966 team compiling an overall record of 5-9. These players were senior pitcher Bob Doede, senior infielders John Dorn and Duane Neubauer, junior infielder Frank Schade, and senior outfielder Gary Seehafer. Torresani had fourteen sophomores and six juniors on this season's roster. All will be returning as a nucleus for next year's team.

Frank Schade intently studied the opposing pitcher as he stood off third base awaiting an opportunity to score.

Dog-leg right, wind, water hazard, rough, bunkers, placement of flag went through Mike Myers' mind as he eyed the fairway ahead.

The Wausau Senior High golf team began action with practice at the American Legion and Country Club golf courses on April 16. Thirty boys came out aspiring for positions on a team of five players. Included were two lettermen from last year's team, juniors Claude Thomas and Mike Myers. Others who have scored well include Todd Carver, Roger Nuernberg, Tom Hahn, Tom Schroeder, David Stueber, Fred Frey, Rick Wheeler, and Mark Hadley. Regular practice of up to 18 holes of golf per night prepared the golfers for regular meet competition.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders Stirred Student Support

"On to State" proved to be a successful cheer, making it apparent that the cheerleaders wanted to do their part in leading our Jacks to victory.

Nothing kept the varsity squad from promoting pep, arousing school spirit, and always smiling. Days before a game the girls drew and put up posters, made catchy announcements, sold booster buttons, and cooperated with the pep club. To climax the pre-game pep assemblies, which they directed, the cheerleaders presented clever skits humorizing the coming event.

Heading the varsity squad was Cathy Trembath, while Beverly Dzubay led the B-squad. Acting as advisors were Mrs. Meuret and Mrs. Kickland.

B-SQUAD CHEERLEADERS

G.A.A. Meant Action, Fun, Competition

G.A.A. ADVISORS

The girls' gym teachers who also acted as G.A.A. advisors were (left to right) Miss Becker, Mrs. Meuret, and Miss Preuss.

With the addition of one more girl, the Girls' Athletic Association would have reached an even 500 in membership. As it was, 499 girls made up the largest G.A.A. club ever in the history of Wausau High.

The club's activities began in the fall with bowling and its most popular sport, volleyball. The enthusiasm and interest in these two tournaments resulted in regular attendance and development of real skill.

With the coming of winter emphasis turned to basketball, curling, and table tennis. For the first time the girls held an unofficial basketball tournament, forming their own teams. Because of its success and popularity, plans were made to continue this event in future years. Curling proved as popular as ever, making it necessary to turn down many girls. Sign up was limited to ten rinks.

Softball, golf, badminton, tennis, and archery took over the spring season. Softball was open to everyone whereas golf was reserved for only those who were familiar with the sport.

Whether the girls learned a new sport skill or improved an old favorite, they all enjoyed the thrill of competition and the satisfaction of teamwork and exercise.

A senior girl was chosen to direct each of the G.A.A. sports. The senior heads were: Carol Zimbauer, bowling; Barb Klos, volleyball; Carol Kischel, basketball; Cathy Trembath, curling; Darlene Graefe, badminton; Phyllis Woehlert, table tennis; Mary Baum, softball; and Dona Schwichtenberg, golf.

Miss Becker acted as the club's advisor with Miss Preuss, Mrs. Meuret, Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. McElrath, and Mrs. Kickland assisting her. These ladies made the club possible by directing and supervising the G.A.A. meetings and tournaments.

VOLLEYBALL CHAMPIONS

The G.A.A. volleyball champions were Linda Hoffman, Sue Pennycook, Debbie Arps, Marla Priebe, Julie Brandenburg, Carol Zimbauer, Lynn Stanke, Jane Spakoski, Sandy Didrickson, Phyllis Woehlert, and Linda Kuehl. (absent) Peggy Gjetson. Carol Zimbauer was captain.

GOLD MEDAL BOWLERS

THREE HIGH BOWLERS

The three G.A.A. bowlers with the highest averages were Kay Doering, Kathy Rounds, and Karen Hahn.

TABLE TENNIS CHAMPS

This year's champs in the G.A.A. table tennis tournament were Judy Seidel and Nancy Anklam.

UNOFFICIAL BASKETBALL TEAM

Members of the first place team, captained by Brenda Ehlert, in the G.A.A. unofficial basketball tournament were Nancy Anklam, Lynn Stanke, Jane Spakoski, Kathy Eggebrecht, Brenda Ehlert, Barbara Spatz, Lyla Iken, Terry Rotzold, Sandy Luedtke, and Mary Ahrens.

The winning curling rink, with skip Barb Nelson, included Peg Hessert, Barb Nelson, Sandy Post, and Ellen Eldridge. (absent) Peg Gjetson.

"Sweep, sweep!" Noreen Reavill and Cheryl Lewis did just that in a final effort to make this one a counter.

G.A.A. Off-Campus Sports Were Varied

Junior head of golf, Sandy Post, tried to earn a little extra spending money acting as caddie for senior head, Dona Schwichtenberg.

The Aquajacks officers (sitting) Louise Eklund, Peggy Strek, (swimming) Julie Brandenburg, and Kathy Kramer, were as attractive in the water as out.

Phy. Ed. Aimed at Physical Fitness

Forty modified pull-ups, a part of the physical fitness testing program administered in the gym classes, didn't seem to exhaust these two.

The girls' physical education classes this year emphasized development of physical skills on an individual basis. The girls took a series of physical fitness tests which measure physical coordination, speed, and endurance. The indoor tests included the shuttle run, basketball skill tests, the broad jump, sit-ups, and pull-ups. Testing was completed outside with the 50 yard dash and the softball throw. Test results were recorded and helped determine final grades.

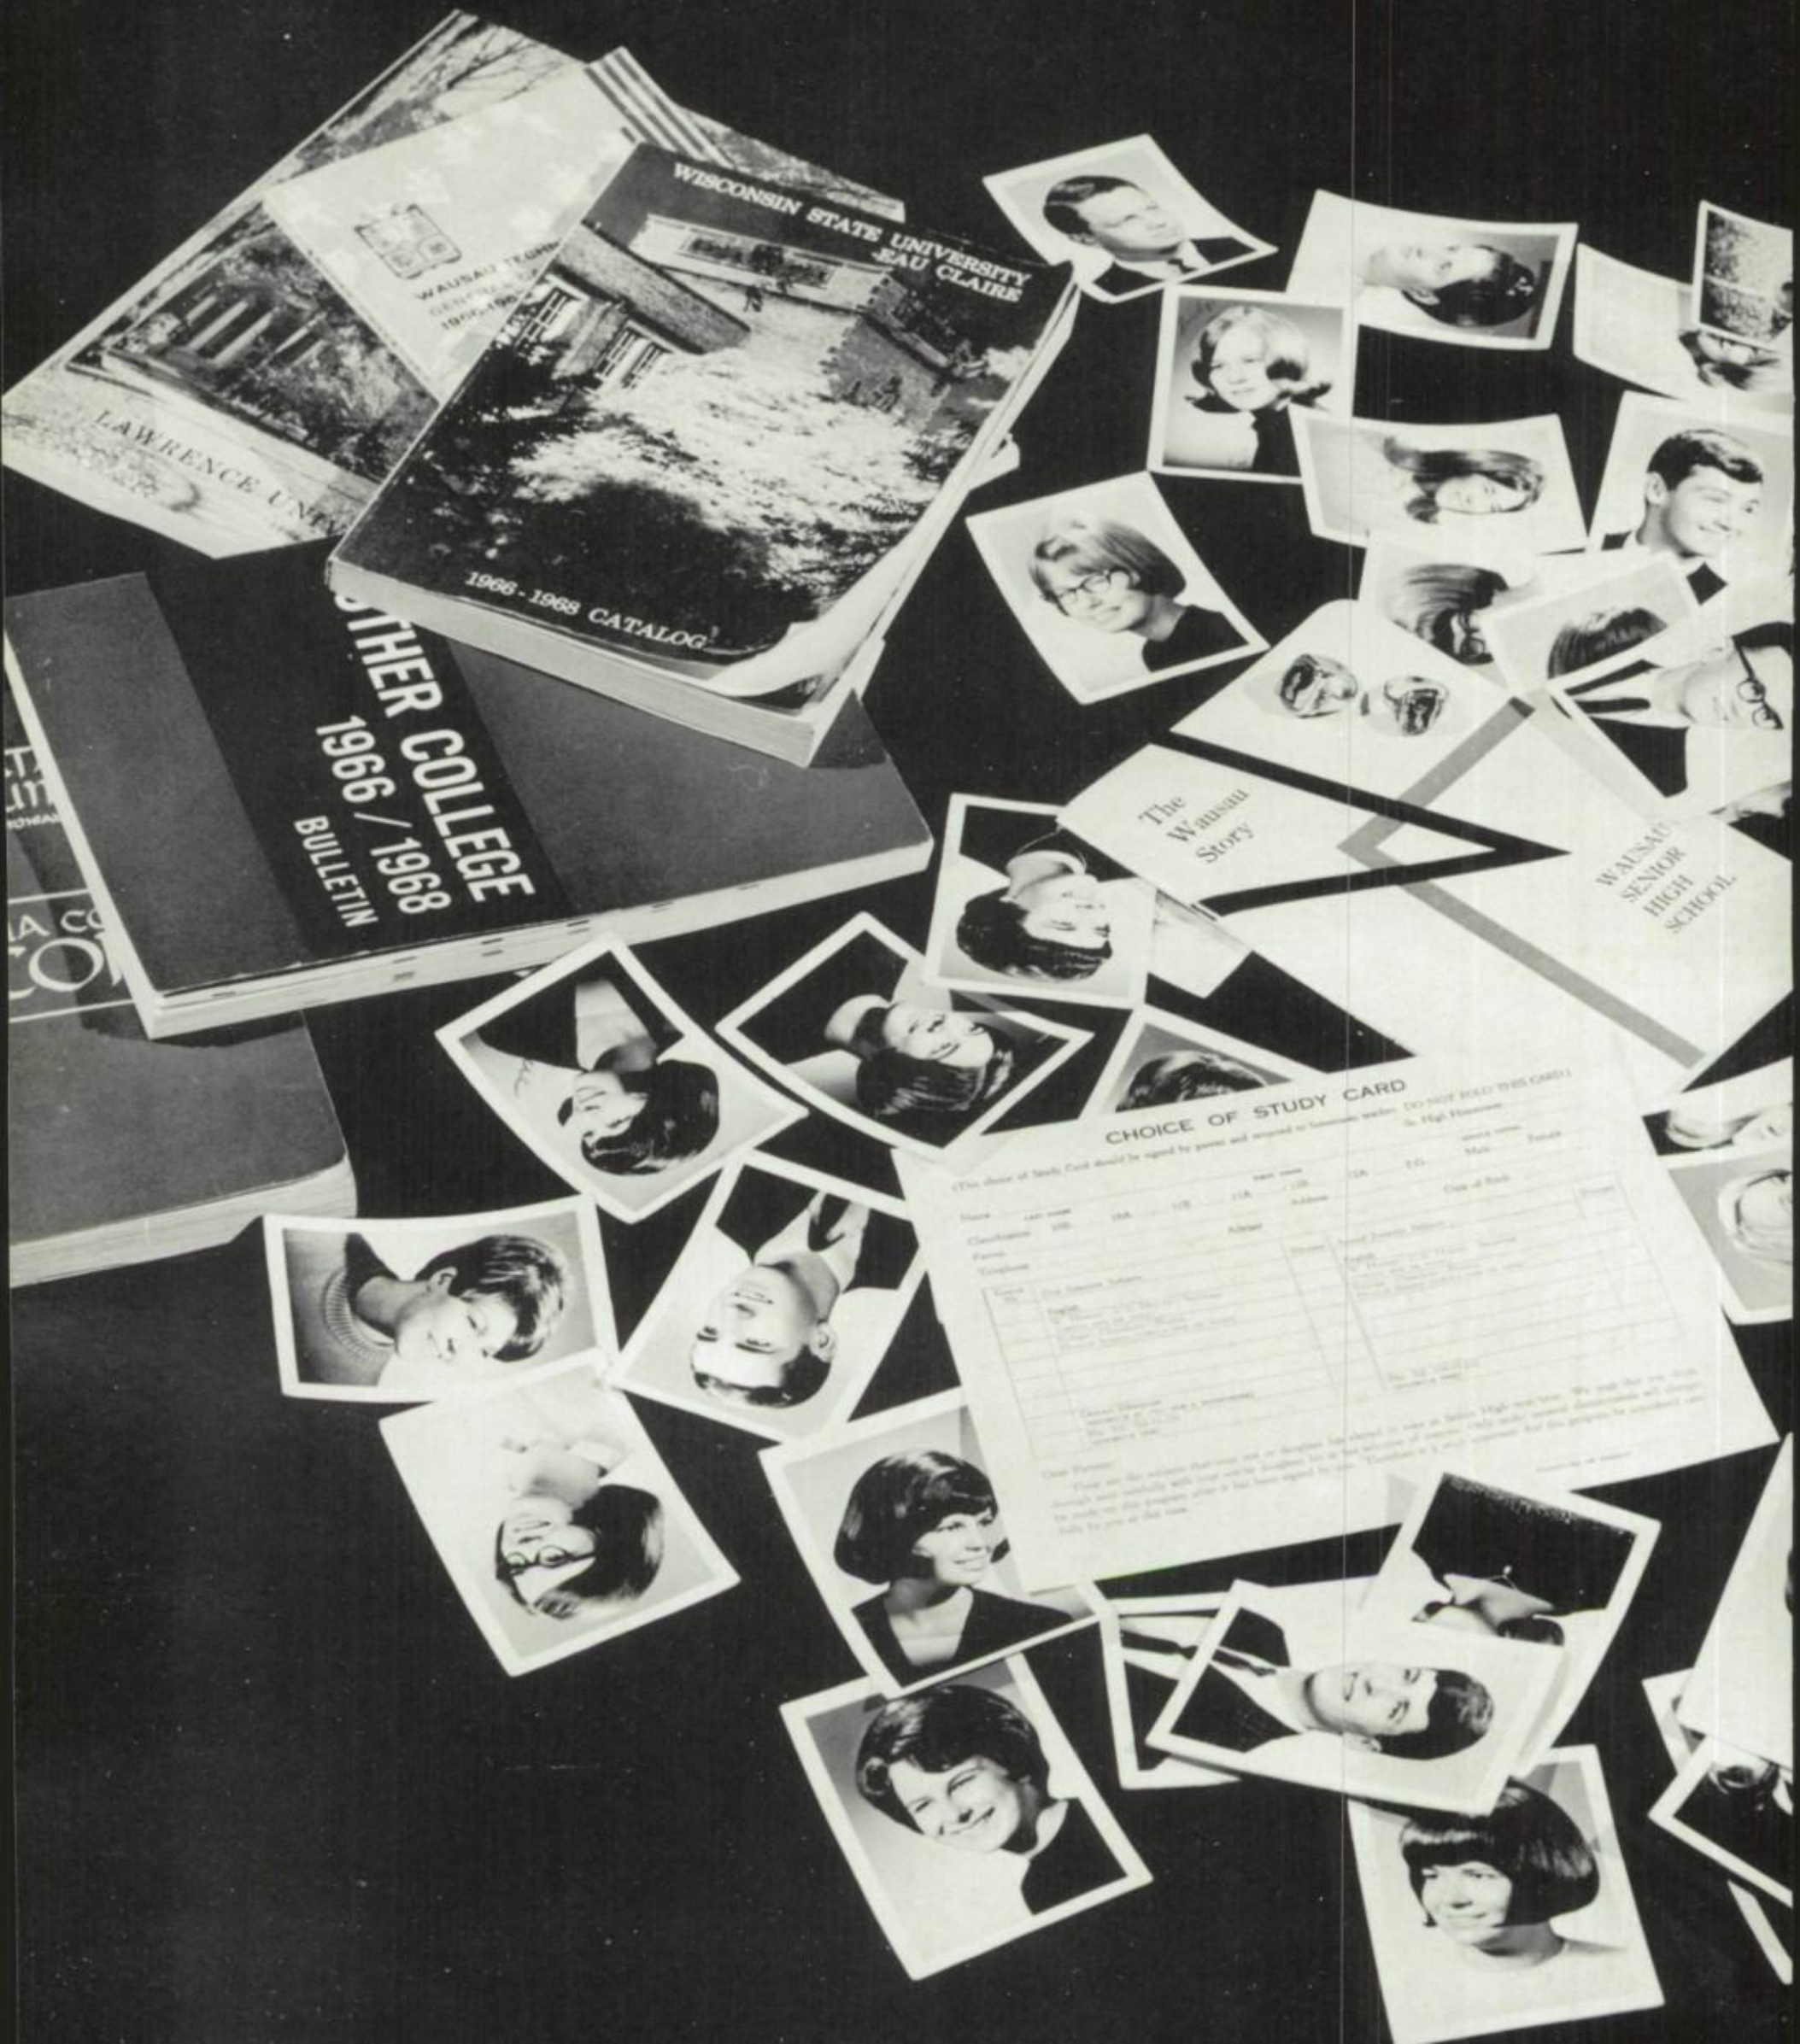

Beginning each class session with formal exercising kept the students in shape. Then followed team sports such as basketball, volleyball, and softball; coordination skills including tumbling, acrobatics, and trampoline work; individual competition in badminton, table tennis, and archery, plus a unit on folk dance. These games furthered the main goal and provided enjoyment as well.

These girls demonstrated headstands, one feat of the girls' unit on tumbling. "Spotters" were always used for safety.

Girls in the new gym perfected badminton skills put to use later in the G.A.A. badminton tournament.

CLASSES

Wausau High is one of the largest high schools in the state. With over 700 students in both the senior and junior classes, and over 800 in the sophomore class, our school's enrollment nearly reached 2,275. In addition to size, we have also concluded WAUSAU HIGH'S GOT IT with regard to school spirit and class competition. Each individual, whether a confused sophomore, aspiring junior, or a mighty senior, displayed pride in his class, and his school.

"The life of every man is a diary in which he writes one story, and writes another; and his humblest hour is when he compares the volume as it is with what he vowed to make it."

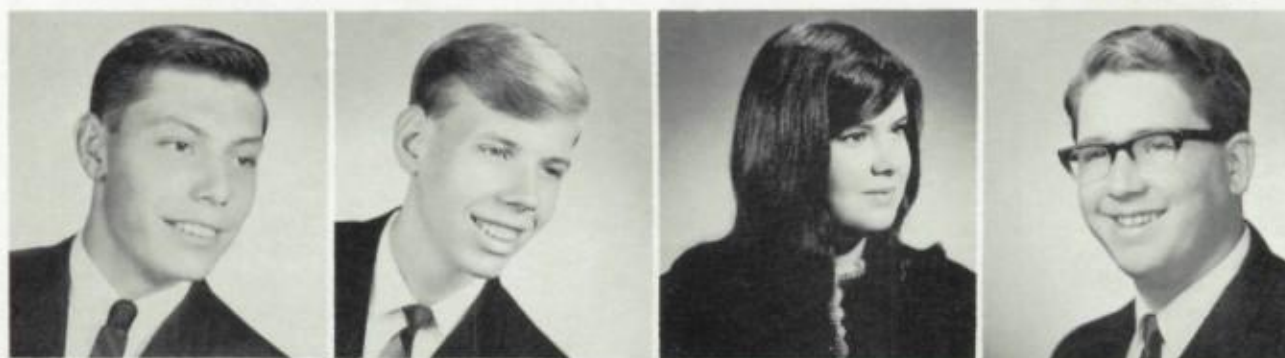

By the time we are seniors most of us have decided how we plan to spend the rest of our lives. We have either charted our courses so as to fulfill a roll in society shortly after graduation, or we have planned our courses in such a way that we may continue in some area of vocational training or higher education. Most of us will succeed, some of us will excel and a few of us will fail. Hopefully, the majority, having received a strong educational foundation, will use it to the best of their ability to create for themselves a successful and meaningful role in society. Let us hope that we have planned the stories of our lives well, so when the hour comes to compare the volumes as they are with what we vowed to make them, the comparisons will be complimentary.

This year's winter brought more than the average amount of snow to Wausau. After a heavy snowfall, Karen Nutting succumbed to the temptation of the large, soft snowbanks around Wausau High and gleefully introduced Tom Tanck to a friendly one.

Anxiously awaiting his favorite holiday, Jon Dehlinger marked the calendar diligently every day to relieve his mounting tension.

The gym seemed especially solemn during our National Anthem just before the clash between Wausau and Lakeland.

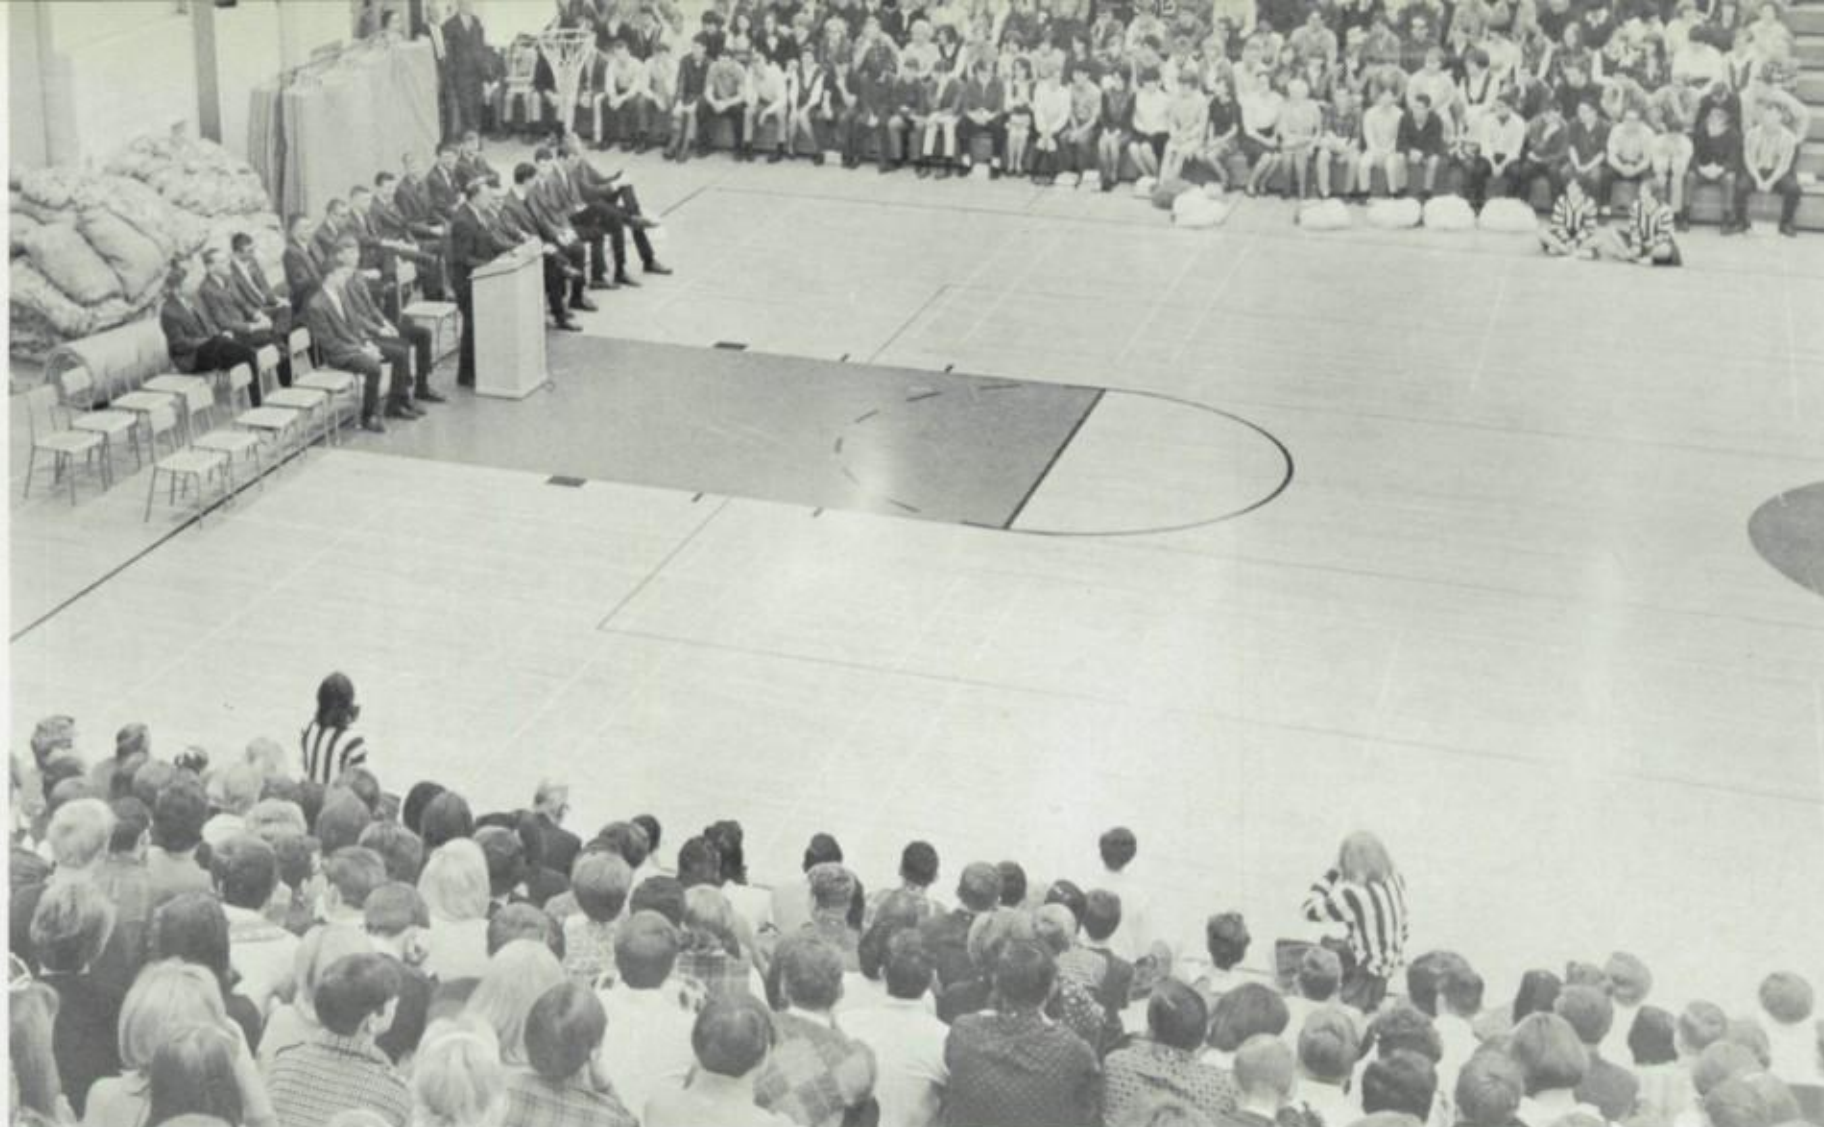

WHS coach, Ken Anderson, proudly accepts the trophy for second place at the conclusion of the State Basketball Tournament.

Wausau Senior High's Lumberjacks Got It

A frenzied Wausau Lumberjack team and crowd hoisted an exuberant Coach Ken Anderson to their shoulders. It was at the Sectionals that the Jacks downed their last obstacle, a scrappy team from Loyal, prior to their journey down to the state tournament at Madison.

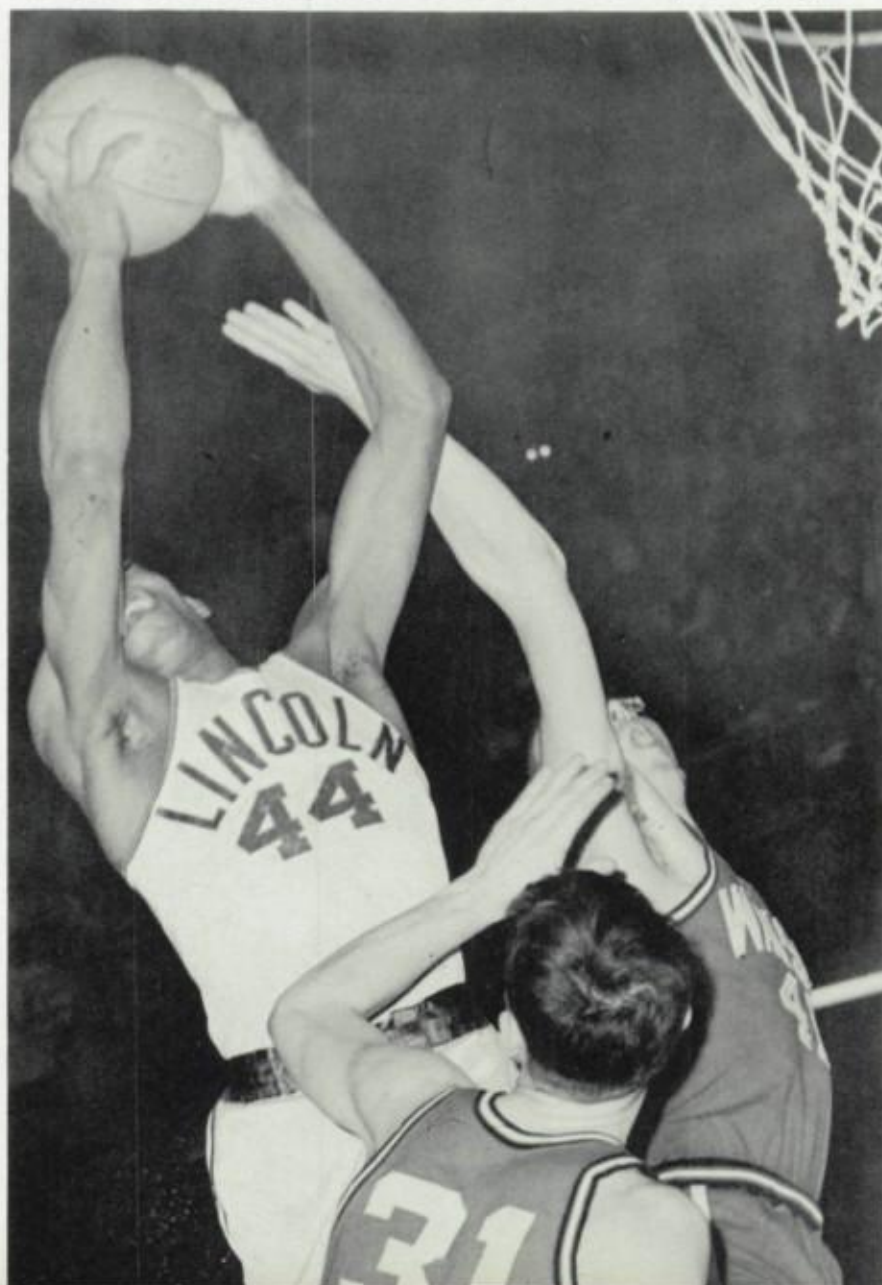

Before their departure for Madison the team was given a hearty bon voyage from the students of Wausau Senior High during a typically lively pep assembly. Mr. Brockmeyer, a former basketball coach at Wausau himself, told the crowd we could go all the way.

Were Sectional Champs, Second at State

The Wausau basketball team entered Wisconsin tournament play with an overall record of 16-2. An early epidemic nearly quashed Wausau's chances but the reserves pulled them through the preliminary sessions. The Lumberjacks' first opponent at Madison was Barron, pitting the largest against the smallest school. Wausau then met Appleton, a team that had just come off a strong comeback victory over Whitefish Bay. Having defeated Barron and Appleton, the Jacks earned the right to meet the Milwaukee Lincoln Comets in the finals. This contest saw our team hold the Comets to their lowest score for this season, as Lincoln squeezed by Wausau 61-56. Ken Roeder, the tourney's top rebounder with 36, was named to the All-Tourney No. 1 team and Larry Edwards, lauded by Wisconsin Coach John Erickson, was selected to the second team.

Wausau Jack's Pat Reed and Ken Roeder strain futilely to grab the ball from Lincoln's Thomas during the championship game.

A record number of 718 juniors returned to their second year at Wausau High. Larger in number than the senior class, the juniors added to the crowded conditions of the school. No longer sophomores, they were still one year away from their final senior year. The juniors realized that though they had made accomplishments, there was still much to do before their education at Wausau High came to an end.

Throughout the year the class was represented in scholastic, athletic, and social activities. Selecting the class ring was its first major undertaking. Also in the fall many juniors took the PSAT. In December the junior girls sponsored their Holiday Dance, which was followed in May with the Junior Prom. In June the juniors bade farewell to the senior class and looked to their senior year.

This year was an exciting experience for every sophomore. We found ourselves in a new and unfamiliar school. We hesitated asking the seniors for directions because we knew we would be misguided. But after a few weeks everything fell in place.

The sophomore class has grown steadily in the past, but

President - Al Caillouette
 Vice-President - Debra Stolen
 Secretary - Jeanne Kline
 Advisor - John Ihde

this year it surprised everyone. We were the largest sophomore class in the school's history and participated in clubs, student council, and all athletic activities.

In the next two years we hope to learn much more about the school and its system. With this added experience we plan to become responsible upper classmen.

Senior Jacque Traeger good-naturedly shook hands with sophomore Ken Burr, graciously overlooking the vast differences between them in social status, size, and intelligence.

The following twirlers showed that sophomores also contributed to Wausau High activities: (standing) Wilson, Rust, Marcell, Shannon, Hahn, (kneeling): Goetsch, Hook, Marquis, Baker.

Wausau got it

ADVERTISEMENTS

During the year the Wausau area Chamber of Commerce stressed that Wausau's Got It. Through advertising and other news media this slogan called attention to the numerous businesses, civic activities, and recreational opportunities of our city. Many of these business establishments contributed to the financing of the WAHISCAN. Because of their cooperation, this yearbook is made possible. In addition, with the permission of the Chamber of Commerce, our theme—Wausau High's Got It—developed.

CONGRATULATIONS!

what are your plans?

Do you want to stay in Wausau . . . live and work here? Then give some thought to Employers Insurance. Better still, stop in and see our personnel people. We are always looking for new, qualified employees to keep up with our ever-growing business.

We're known in our famous national ads as "good people to do business with." We think you'll find us good people to work with, too.

Is there a spot for you in one of these beautiful new office buildings? Come in and see.

"Wausau's Got It!" And with the expansion of the new Employers Insurance home office in Wausau, they can offer even more and better service. There is a bright future for all of those interested.

No better term more adequately exemplifies the Wausau Senior High school spirit than this tattered FITE sign, the final remnant of a long, hard fought, football game.

Percussion is an integral part of any selection played by band or orchestra. Here are Sandi Ankham, Carol Kischel, and Tom Evjue as they practiced for a performance.

Herds of pink elephants invaded Wausau during the Wausau Week activities to publicize the candidacy of Sharon Paetzold for Wausau Day Queen.

After meeting the final deadline, WAHISCAN staff members happily carried advisor Mr. Rosenhauer out of their beloved 207 to a more restful place to recuperate from a nerve-wrecking year.

Acknowledgements

Official photographers for the WAHISCAN were Ray Gehring and Ray Toburen of Toburen's Studio.

Many people have contributed their time and effort in producing the 1957 WAHISCAN. A hard-working editorial staff gave up one period each school day to contribute their time and talent so that the 1967 WAHISCAN might become a reality. They were especially dedicated and deserve much thanks for all their work.

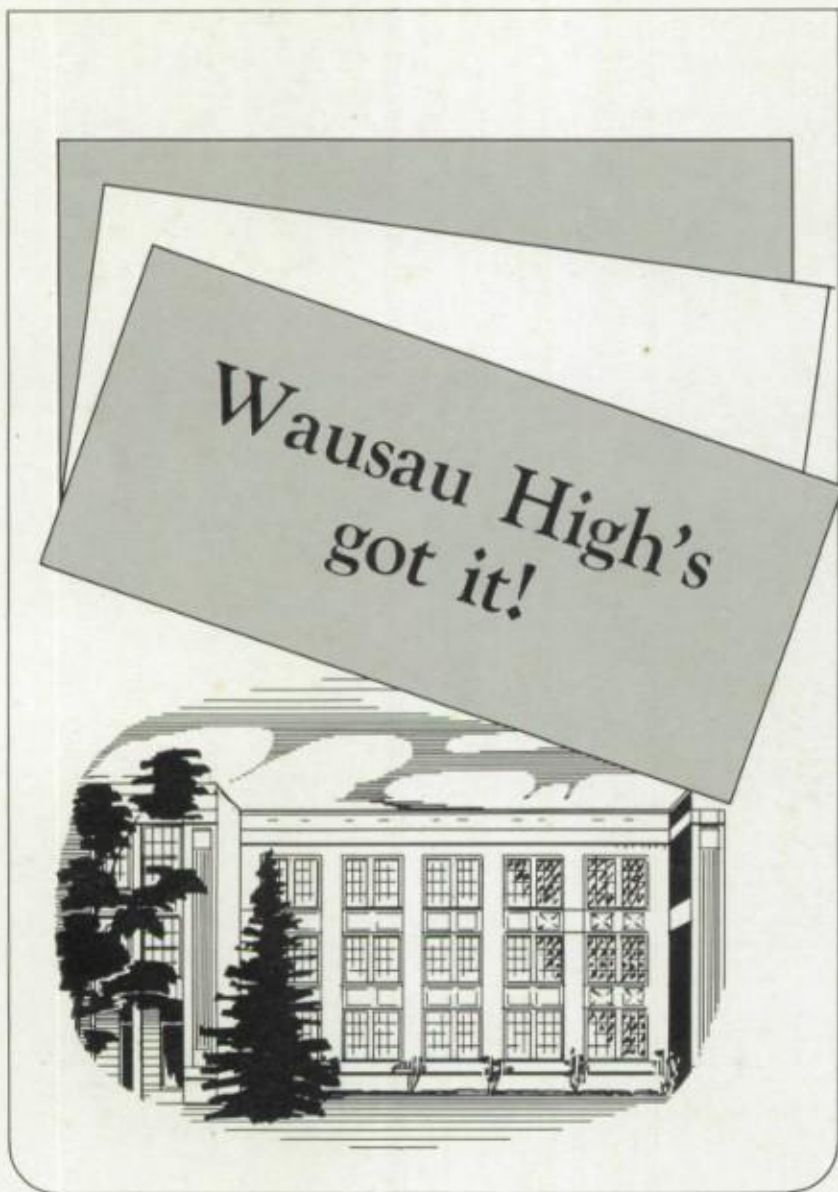

Mr. Rosenhauer, whose patience, advice, and encouragement were invaluable, found solutions to countless problems and was especially helpful to me.

Mr. Dzubay and his business staff, without whose help in selling ads this book would not be possible, and Mrs. Hodges, who directed the WAHISCAN distribution, deserve special thanks for their efforts.

Ray Toburen and Ray Gehring, the photographers at Toburen's Studio, took thousands of pictures, and, although subjected to continuous pressure from the staff, they again did a fine job in helping to make the WAHISCAN an accurate pictorial record of the 1966-1967 school year.

Thanks also to the Wausau Daily Record-Herald for the pictures they contributed; to Mr. George Bush, who took the sophomore and junior class portraits; to the administration, office secretaries, and faculty, who patiently suffered through the long picture-taking days; and to the Fey Publishing Company, the S. K. Smith Company, and Boehm Binding, who tied everything together to produce the end result.

Derry Mathisen

The task of distributing 2,320 yearbooks to the student body and other interested individuals was assumed by Mrs. Hodges.

Mr. Don Gasch of the Fey Publishing Company came from Wisconsin Rapids several times this past year to help editors Judy Seidel, Gerry Mathisen, Sandi Anklam, Barb Leffler and advisors Mr. Dzubay and Mr. Rosenhauer with their technical problems.
